SCORES ARE INJURED IN RAIL WRECK

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
OMAHA (Neb.), Dec. 4.—One hundred and thirty passengers of the 150 on board a Wabash passenger train which was derailed six miles north of Shenandoah, Iowa, at 2:15 o'clock last night were more or less seriously injured, according to information reaching Omaha from Shenandoah at an early hour this morning. Three day coaches and the smoker were turned over on their sides. Among the injured were: J. W. Coughlin, Omaha, back hurt; Fred Handley, Omaha, arm broken; P. H. Keller, Omaha, head injured; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davis, Council Bluffs, out and bruised; William Shoemaker and Mary Bullman, Maryville, Mo. The cause of the accident was not known last night. The train was just crossing a bridge when the engine jumped the track and was followed by the coaches. About 150 yards of track were torn up. Doctors and nurses were rushed to the scene of the accident from Shenandoah, Imogene and other towns. A wrecking train was sent from Council Bluffs at a late hour last night. Wabash officials at Council Bluffs were not informed about the accident beyond the fact that no one was killed.

Merida Winner in Election at Mexicali Polls

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
MEXICALI, Dec. 4.—Excitement over the municipal election in Mexicali yesterday subsided tonight when the election of Enrique Merida as president was conceded by his opponents. All returns were not in from the fifteen precincts but it was believed enough votes had been counted to determine Merida's victory. Merida campaigned on a "progressive reform" and "antitrust" platform, and was said to have the backing of both Territorial and Federal officials. Juan Morales was under arrest tonight on a charge of having slain Francisco Davis in a political dispute yesterday, and four other men were held for an assault on Juan Castro, candidate for council at Colonia Castro.

LIES WARNED BY
CHANCELLOR CUNO;
WON'T SIGN TREATY

(BY LARRY RUE)
(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
BERLIN, Dec. 4.—"Unless France reduces her demands to a point where I believe them possible of fulfillment, I will never sign an agreement with the reparations commission," was the promise given today by Herr Cuno to representatives and government officials at a tea and given in the Reichstag by German newspaper men.

ARMY CONTRACTORS SUED

Department of Justice Seeks to Recover Money Spent in Building of Wartime Cantonments

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Six civil suits seeking to recover $29,000,000 alleged to have been fraudulently spent by contractors on the construction of army cantonments in the war were filed today by direction of Atty.-Gen. Daugherty. These actions make a total of ten similar suits involving more than $50,000,000 filed within the last ten days. The cantonments involved, the contracting firms against which action was taken and amounts claimed in each case follow:—Camp Travis, San Antonio, Tex.; Stone & Webster, $2,000,000; Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va.; Rinehart & Dennis Company, Inc., $1,000,000; Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich.; Porter Brothers, $2,000,000; Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark.; James Stewart & Co., $2,000,000; Camp Dodge, Des Moines, Iowa; Charles Walcott, $4,500,000; Camp Dix, Wrightsboro, N. J.; Irwin & Leighton, $2,000,000. According to the records of the Department of Justice, the actual cost to the government for construction of the camps was:—Custer, $13,646,723.82; Dodge, $11,326,901.46; Dix, $13,545,655.44; Lee, $18,671,574.86; Pike, $12,745,568.96; and Travis, $5,931,923.77. With the exception of Camp Knox at Rithdon, Ky., which cost $14,773,000, the records show that Camp Lee was the most expensive of all cantonments. All the bills of complaint, al-

Speeders Kill Women

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 4.—Coming on the heels of the announcement by Mayor Shank that if stop was not put to auto speeding in this city, he would have speeders killed and held under high bond, two women were killed tonight and struck by cars traveling at a high rate of speed. Mrs. Dolly Mitchell, 35 years old, and Miss Josephine Herman, 24 years old, were the victims. The two young women were waiting together for a street car in the downtown section, when they were struck by an automobile and knocked down. A second machine following closely ran over them. The young women died a few moments later. The drivers of the automobiles sped away immediately after the accident.

Picture Star Molested

Miss Helen Ferguson, motion picture actress, and her family, was thrown into a panic early today by repeated telephone calls from some unidentified man who insisted upon proposing ardent love to the star. Despite requests that he desist, the man persisted, and Miss Ferguson called detective headquarters. Lieut. Nicholson of Hollywood Station went to Miss Ferguson's home, 1424-C North Bronson avenue, where he received a report of the occurrence. An officer was left on guard in case an attempt to injure the screen actress was made by the fanatic.

Accused of Auto Theft

Accused of having stolen automobiles to be stripped, Theo Bang was arrested early this morning at 101 South Bunker Hill avenue by Detective Sergeant Katsenberger and Williamson and lodged in the City Jail. According to the officers, Bang is a partner of J. L. Warren, arrested at San Diego, by the same officers on similar charges.

Chinese Cook in Navy for Years
Becomes Citizen

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
PORTLAND (Me.), Dec. 4.—Ah Pang, a Chinese cook with twenty-one years' service in the United States Navy, became a citizen of the United States today despite the protests of naturalization examiners who intimated that the Supreme Court would be asked to review the decision of the United States District Court here. Naval officials who knew Ah Pang pleaded for the admission of the Chinese, who is 49 years old, on the ground that he could not be re-enlisted, retired or transferred to the naval reserve unless a citizen. They argued that the case of the Chinese was covered by the soldiers and sailors naturalization act of 1915.

DAVIS HITS
AT LOWER
ALIEN BARS

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Agitation designed to discredit the so-called 3 per cent law and let down all bars against immigration was scored today by Secretary Davis in a statement showing that immigration quotas from many countries had been less than half filled in the past two years.

Mr. Davis said he had encountered widespread agitation against the law during his travels about the country in the last two months. Much of the agitation, he is convinced, is based on a misapprehension of the law and a desire on the part of misled employers to "open wide our gates to European immigration to provide labor for our industries."

Those who are now clamoring against the law forget the fact that the law would have permitted the admission of thousands of immigrants in the last year if they had sought admission. At any rate since the law has been in effect workmen for our industries of the racial strains which have made America great, which have up to the present time two decades made up the bulk of our immigration, could have been admitted by the thousands.

In the last fiscal year less than one-half of the quotas that could be admitted have come from England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland and Germany.

He pointed out the percentages of the quotas from the countries were filled as follows: Denmark, 67.8; United Kingdom, 55.3; Norway, 48.7; Sweden, 42.8; and Germany, 22.

Pershing Tells of Dangers in Army Neglect

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
ST. LOUIS (Mo.), Dec. 4.—The United States must be prepared, as success in war is dependent upon well-laid plans, declared Gen. Pershing, chief of staff of the United States Army, in an address before members of the local chapter of the Military Order of the World War here tonight. The general told members of the society that "you must become the foundation upon which to build," and asserted that "the lesson has been learned and never again should we allow ourselves to he back into our proverbial attitude of neglect and indifference." He declared that organization of skeleton military forces would not only assure the country protection against aggression from abroad, but would be "a safeguard against the destructive influences of radicalism" within the country.

BAND ROUTS GUARDS IN WAREHOUSE

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
PEORIA (Ill.), Dec. 4.—Thirty men tonight raided the warehouse of the Liberty Yeast Corporation at Pekin, Ill., held up the employees and guards and escaped with sixty barrels of bonded whiskey. The yeast corporation formerly was the Globe distillery and the liquor had been stored there since before the Volstead act went into effect.

The bandits loaded the liquor on motor trucks and drove away toward Springfield. Each truck was loaded with twelve barrels. The raid was made just as the night shift of employees went on duty. None of the raiders was masked. They were armed and moved with military precision. Some of them surrounded the plant while the others entered and compelled the employees to put up their hands. Several of the bandits were recognized, as the same men who on November 21 were repulsed in a night attack on the American distillery at Peoria.

Late this evening it was reported that one of the trucks had broken down five miles out of Pekin, but Sheriff Niehouse and a posse in pursuit were unable to find it.

Injured Race
Mechanic Has Chance of Life

Hopes for the recovery of Hugh Curley were expressed last night by Dr. A. W. Moore at the California Lutheran Hospital, where the mechanic, injured in Sunday's automobile races, was still unconscious at a late hour. Herschel McKee, driver of the wrecked machine, the Shokcheck Duesenberg Special, is reported well on the way to recovery.

While at first Dr. Moore did not expect Curley to survive, the mechanic's pulse has continued strong, due to his super physical condition. An X-ray revealed a fracture of the skull, and physicians are now want to believe Curley is suffering from concussion of the brain. He is expected at any moment to regain consciousness.

DETROIT, Dec. 4.—Five men were arrested here today charged with theft of express packages, the value of which was estimated by officials at more than $50,000. Four of the men were drivers of American Railway Express Company trucks.

FIND BONES
OF ANIMAL
LONG DEAD

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Discovery of a second specimen of the Baluchitherium, a long extinct mammal which roamed the Mongolian Desert area, was announced here today by J. B. Shaffer, director of the American Museum of Natural History, who arrived from the Orient on the President Pierce.

Prof. Shaffer, who was in charge of photography for the third Asiatic expedition from the museum, said the skeleton of the enormous prehistoric animal is now on its way to the United States to be set up in the museum for exhibition and study. The expedition was in Mongolia five months.

The Baluchitherium is supposed to have roamed the desert 3,000,000 years ago. It was so large that it is believed that it took two men to lift its funny bones out of the earth.

According to the scientist, the skeletons from the Gobi Desert in Mongolia are the richest find for paleontologists for a long time.

Two New Faces Will Be Seen at Meeting This Week of Allied Ministers in London

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
LONDON, Dec. 4.—The meeting of the Allied premiers in London, fixed for the week-end, will see the stage for the Brussels conference, beginning the 15th inst., which, with new British and Italian premiers in attendance, is likely to develop into the most important meeting of its kind since Versailles.

The British Foreign Office is busy with the preparation of the agenda for this preliminary meeting but the situation and attitude of Germany, upon which everything depends, are so changing that, according to the officials, it is difficult to outline the position which the British representative will take.

BELGIANS
OF HOOVER

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 4.—In the name of the King of the Belgians and his people a statue of Isis, goddess of plenty, was presented here today to Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, as an expression of gratitude for the relief work done in Belgium by Mr. Hoover and his aides through the American Relief Commission during the war.

The presentation was made by Senator Albert Lejeune of Belgium, who came across the seas to express his gratitude to Hoover.

The ceremonies, introduced by Senator Lejeune, were held in the Stanford Memorial Chapel where Dr. J. B. Shaffer, president of the university, introduced Senator Lejeune and Jules Simon, Consul of Belgium in San Francisco, who made a brief address. President David P. Barrows of the University of California was another speaker.

The presentation was made in the art gallery. In explaining the nature of the memorial speakers said that the Belgians felt that the statue was a fitting tribute to the work of Hoover and his associates in carrying relief to the starving Belgians.

The strings that unveiled the statue were pulled by a Belgian and an American girl: Miss Germaine Collette, a student at Stanford University from Belgium, and Miss Frances Willis, a Stanford student who formerly attended the University of Brussels.

Consuls of America's war-time Allies attended the dedication together with many prominent Army and Navy officials and prominent educators from over the State.

FOURTEEN
CAPTURED

An organized gang of bandits who have been looting fashionable residences and victimizing automobile owners recently have been effectively broken up, the police declared this morning following the arrest of fourteen suspects after an extended campaign of the department.

With the arrests the police recovered several thousand dollars' worth of jewelry and other valuables and a number of automobiles which are declared to have been stolen by members of the gang. Of the suspects now in custody only one is more than 21 years of age. The operations of the gang have terrorized some of the more exclusive residential districts for several months, the police assert.

Further investigations will cause other arrests and the recovery of much more property, the department anticipates.

Nine of the suspects are declared to be associated in an organized band directed by a clever and experienced criminal, who may or may not be among those in custody. Those arrested last night are Joe Coogan, 19; Robert Douglas, 17; Dick Wilson, 17; James Douglas, 16; Ed Prince, 19; Frank Elden, 19; Dick Williams, 40; Chester Blackhawk, 19; and James Russell, 40 years of age. Coogan and Douglas were arrested at 1215 South Olive street by Detective Sergeant S. B. Howe and Officer Skelchey; Wilson, James Douglas and Prince were arrested at Pico and Albany streets by Officers Holland and Weaver, and the others were taken into custody by some of the same officers at 514 Maple avenue.

Detective Sergeant Howe later called Harry Myers, 35; leaders of the gang, who were 18 years old. The officer declared he saw them emerging from a house on Fifth street, near Fremont, carrying a suit case. Two others, bringing the day's total up to fourteen, were arrested at Aliso and Lyon streets by Officers Mathieu and Hamilton. They are Arthur Armeale, 17, and Manuel Gonzales, 19 years old.

SOVIETS DOMINATE
MEET AT LAUSANNE,
DICTATE TO TURKSBY CLARENCE K. STRATTON
(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
(Copyright, 1922, Public Ledger.)

LAUSANNE, Dec. 4.—What may be a fatal blow to the sick Lausanne conference was struck today when the old battle between England and Russia for control of the straits was resumed by Marquis Curzon and George Tchitcherine, leaving a worse split than before. The only difference was that it is Russia instead of England supporting the Turks.

"Monstrosity" Curzon as Tchitcherine called him, was distinctly annoyed at no longer having the conference all his own way. He vented spleen on the Turks by telling the world it was strange the Turks did not declare themselves before the lion and bear had fought it out between them—though he must remember this had been the traditional Turkish policy which has always resulted in their holding the straits as the only compromise possible.

The Turks simply declared the Russian project—freedom of the straits for commerce in peace and war and Turkish fortification for preventing warships from passing at any time which is a return to the prewar status—is nearest their ideas, but they are willing to consider other projects. Marquis Curzon promised on Tchitcherine's demand to consult the Allies and give their viewpoint at the next session. The Russians, in demanding fortifications asked more than the Turks gave as that they do not think permanent fortifications are necessary.

The question boils down to this: In time of peace is guarantee needed. In time of war the guarantee are no good. An international board in case of emergency could not without a Turkish army which could quickly close the straits with mines, airplanes and field artillery and by throwing up earthworks which are better than concrete.

That is how the Turks held the straits against the Allies in the war.

President Transmits First Federal Budget Message to Congress

WHERE TAX DOLLAR GOES
Two-thirds of Three Billion Asked of Congress Are for Fixed Government Charges

BY ROBERT B. ARNOLD
(SPECIAL DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—President Harding, in transmitting the first complete compilation of the budget to Congress, today praised the establishment of the Budget Bureau as one of the greatest single accomplishments in government. For the first time in the history of the Federal organization taxpayers can get a real picture of where the money comes from to run the country and how the expenditures are divided up.

The taxpayers find that the burden of war is heaviest of all. The President explained that $300,000,000, or approximately one-third of the $1,000,000,000 asked for, is for the purpose of paying interest on the national debt.

Only a few years ago the country was asked to pay the expenses of government, and a one-billion-dollar Congress was denounced from one end of the country to the other. But as the President points out, his message, the government has kept pace of greater population and greater demands. A few years ago there was no item for good roads. This year there is provision for $100,000,000.

TAXES IN SMALL.
The man or woman who pays income or income taxes carries the bulk of the government's expenditures. For in every dollar of income tax received by the government, 71.15 cents is furnished by the internal revenue payment. The tariff pays into this dollar 18.35 cents, and from all other sources of income the government adds 10.50 cents to make out the whole dollar of revenue.

This last contribution comes from the sale of government securities.

and I am fearful lest this condition may be in part attributable to the expenditure made by the government pursuant to its Federal aid laws, as many of these State laws require State contributions as a prerequisite to the extension of the Federal aid.

The summary of the budget for 1924 shows an estimated excess of receipts over expenditures of $100,000,000, as compared with an estimated deficit of $275,000,000 for this fiscal year. The President said, however, that he was hopeful that the estimated deficit for 1923 could be reduced in the remaining seven months, and that the close of the year next June 30 would show a balanced account.

Estimated expenditures of $1,200,000,000 for 1924, which are exclusive of the postal service, compare with estimated appropriations of $1,075,000,000 for the same period. Mr. Harding explained that the expenditures for the postal service actual cash withdrawal from the treasury, including some on account of appropriations in previous years.

POSTAL DEFICIT
Another deficit in postal operations was forecast for this year, but Mr. Harding said it was estimated that through proper adjustments there would be a surplus of postal revenues over expenditures in 1924 amounting to $10,000,000.

For this year postal costs were placed at $10,000,000, or an estimated deficiency of $10,000,000, as compared with an actual deficiency in the last fiscal year of $14,000,000. The 1924 costs are given at $10,000,000.

The President told Congress that an appropriation of $100,000,000, recommended for the Army, would provide a regular force of 13,000 officers and 125,000 enlisted men, exclusive of the Philippine Scouts, which new strength would be authorized by Congress, and would enable the Militia Bureau to increase the strength of the National Guard from 100,000 officers and men to 125,000 officers and men. For the Army Air Service $13,571,500 is proposed, or $33,500 less than appropriated this year. Mr. Harding said this sum would permit the service to operate efficiently in accordance with existing policy.

For the Navy $100,000,000 is asked. This amount, the President asserted, would provide for the present authorized personnel of 16,000 men, maintain all present ships on commission and make provision for continuing all new-ship construction in privately owned yards, except for reduction in speed of construction on three light cruisers.

Provision is made in the budget for $125,000,000 in pensions, $100,000,000 in World War allowances, and $20,000,000 in retirement pay. Other items include $11,704,500 for rivers and harbors; $11,400,000 for good roads; $5,718,000 for hospital construction and facilities for war patients; $3,200,000 for railroads in Alaska; $5,518,165 for the Panama Canal; $18,852,000 for general law enforcement, including administration of the Federal Bureau of Investigation; $10,000,000 for the prohibition amendment and the prosecution of war frauds; and $100,000 for the revenue of the Alaska cable.

A comparative table for the fiscal year of 1923 and 1924 shows estimated receipts and expenditures as submitted by the President follows:

SENATE FILIBUSTER BROKEN

Republicans Surrender; Special Session Adjourns;
New One Takes its Place

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Congress put "off the old and on the new" today with the ending of the special session which had been called primarily to consider the shipping bill and the convening of the regular statutory session. The change in Congressional fashion was made within ten minutes, the extra session, begun two weeks ago, adjourning at 11:30 a.m. and the new being called to order at high noon.

The routine sessions winding up the special session and opening the new, developed little business and drew small crowds. Formal surrender of the Senate Republicans to the Democratic filibuster against the Dyer bill ended the tie-up and allowed confirmation of about 1100 delayed nominations before the final gavel of the special session. The usual custom of the Senate Republicans to the Democratic filibuster against the Dyer bill ended the tie-up and allowed confirmation of about 1100 delayed nominations before the final gavel of the special session.

Discussion of the annual budget was the principal business of today's session. The usual custom of the Senate Republicans to the Democratic filibuster against the Dyer bill ended the tie-up and allowed confirmation of about 1100 delayed nominations before the final gavel of the special session.

The President told Congress that an appropriation of $100,000,000, recommended for the Army, would provide a regular force of 13,000 officers and 125,000 enlisted men, exclusive of the Philippine Scouts, which new strength would be authorized by Congress, and would enable the Militia Bureau to increase the strength of the National Guard from 100,000 officers and men to 125,000 officers and men. HIGHWAY ENGINEER
ATTACKS RAILROADS

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Dec. 4.—An attack was directed against American railroads by A. R. Hirt, Chief Highway Engineer for Wisconsin, in an address before the sixth annual conference of the Association of State Highway Officials, charging that the American carriers were impeding every move for highway progress.

Mr. Hirt urged that highway officials of the country help to formulate and support national legislation either to bring Federal ownership of the railroads or to provide a subsidy for the roads in order that the transportation needs of the country might be met.

ANTILYNCH BATTLE WILL BE MAINTAINED
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People declared in a statement tonight commenting on the Dyer bill that it "has no intention of lessening its efforts to abolish lynching."

The abandonment of the bill by the Republican leaders in the Senate, it said, "will have far-reaching effects upon the colored people of the whole country. Of prime importance will be the political effect upon negro voters in those Southern States where they hold the balance of power or vote in such numbers that they are a political factor."

McGehee to be Deputy
SACRAMENTO, Dec. 4.—John McGehee, banker of San Jose, will be named Deputy State Treasurer by Treasurer-Elect Charles E. Johnson. It became known today when a certificate of McGehee's official bond was filed with Secretary of State Jordan. No announcement of the appointment has as yet been made by Johnson.

TINO PLANS
LONG VISIT
TO AMERICAOusted Greek King and His Brothers May Make Homes in Land of Free

(BY CARL REYNOLDS DISPATCH)

PARIS, Dec. 4.—Former King Constantine of Greece is planning to come to America in the early spring and possibly make his home there, as the king business is not looking up in Europe.

He will be the guest of his brother-in-law, Prince Christian, and his wife, Princess Anastasia, formerly Mrs. Lee, who are sailing on December 15 on an extended visit to the United States. Their original passage on the Mafalda, which sails on December 4, was canceled for fear Prince Andrew's head might fall.

It is reported from Palermo that Constantine feels unsafe anywhere in Europe, with punishing the war guiltily becoming a popular sport, especially in Greece and Bulgaria. Prince Christian's son, William B. Lee, Jr., also is going to America early in the spring with his wife, Princess Xenia.

Even Prince Andrew, now on route for Palermo, may be taken along.

KEAN NOTE EFFECTIVE
CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Dec. 4.—Hubert M. Kean of Colorado Springs, sophomore at Harvard College, who appealed for police protection recently after receipt of threatening messages from supposed members of the Ku Klux Klan, has left college, acquaintances said today. The college of his said it was without information on the matter.

HERN'S ANOTHER ONE
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Another prohibition modification measure was introduced today by Representative O'Brien, New Jersey, who proposed to legalize the sale of beer of less than 1 per cent alcohol by volume and other beverages of less than 15 per cent.

Scanty Raiment
no Bar; She'll Dance in Church

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Dec. 4.—Isadora Duncan, dancer, whose lack of clothing has aroused a storm of protest in Boston, Indianapolis and Chicago, came out here today and slumped back at her critics, declaring she had just accepted the invitation of the Rev. William Norman Guthrie, pastor of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, New York, to preach and dance in his church Christmas Eve.

Isadora said she will do her ethnic dance to the music of the pipe organ and she will deliver a sermon on "the moralizing effect of dancing on the human soul."

TIERNAN TEAMS WAITING
Onlookers at Game Silent; Brother Battle his Wives Ready, and Sister-in-Law Smiles

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—The Tiernan teams today began the half of their battle to decide possession of Don John, professional boxer, Peter Tiernan, an assistant corporation counsel of Cook County, is preparing to protect the points won in court by Mrs. Peter Tiernan of Elmwood Park, Don's sister-in-law, who obtained a court order to prevent the legal mind to the psychopathic hospital for insanity.

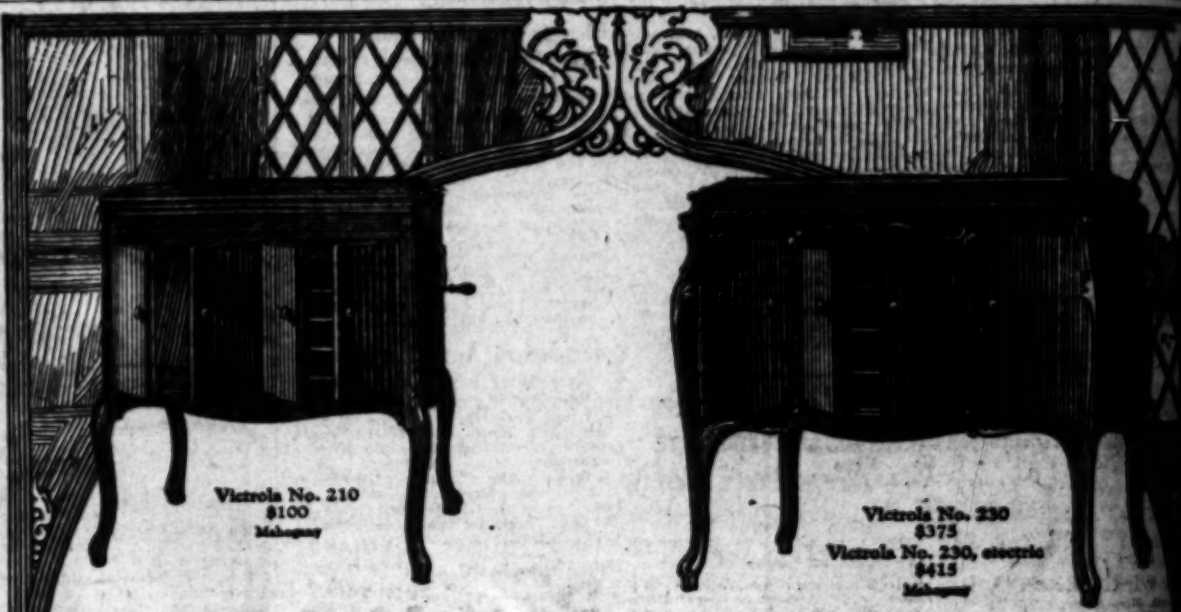

When the assistant corporation counsel will appear, however, is not known.

FANS ARE WAITING
The fans, awaiting the whistle that would send the teams crashing against each other again, decided, as fans will do, that Peter, in the role of substitute coach to replace Mrs. Augusta Tiernan, whose exhaustion sent her into retirement after the first half of the fantastic game, was lying low waiting for a fumble or like break.

Advices from training quarters, where deputy sheriffs still seek the professor, are that all hands are exhausted, and that further sessions will have to wait for recovered boys.

Meanwhile both wives of the professor announced from their positions that they were only awaiting the signal that would project them into the ring again.

WORK WOULD SAVE MONEY

Postmaster-General Tells of Department Needs

Government-Owned Buildings Are Suggested

Department Deficit is Decreased in Fiscal Year

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The campaign for government ownership of postoffice buildings throughout the country was renewed by Postmaster-General Work in his annual report today to Congress.

Not only would a policy of public ownership relieve the government of much of its present housing congestion, the Postmaster-General said, but it also would make for financial economy since rentals of more than $12,000,000 now being paid over annually without tangible return could be invested instead in property of a permanent value.

Government-owned buildings, he pointed out, are free from taxation, while the government as a lessee must pay enough rent to enable the landlord to meet his tax bills. In the same way he asserted that whereas the government could borrow money "on practically a 4-per-cent basis" to build postoffices, when it leases it "pays rental sufficient to permit the lender to borrow money at 7 per cent, and in some cases as much as 10 per cent."

OTHER LEGISLATION

Other legislation recommended by the Postmaster-General included passage of the bill pending in the House to increase the interest rate on postal savings deposits from 3 to 3 1/2 per cent and the rate on postal savings bonds from 3 1/2 to 4 per cent; establishment of a system of pensions for postal employees who have been in the service more than thirty years; reclassification of departmental employees; a salary readjustment to permit full pay for overtime; authorization for motor-vehicle rural mail routes up to seventy-five miles in length; maintenance of a guaranty fund, derived from assessments levied upon postal officials accountable for funds and property, to make good losses from the failure of such officials properly to perform their duties, and to take the place of the present bonding system; imposition of additional postage on improperly or insufficiently addressed mail; and the extension of insurance and collection.

AIR BOOTLEGGER IS CONVICTED

Transportation of Liquor by Plane Costs $400 and Machine

Boot-legging by airplane comes high.

In U. S. District Judge Blodgett's court yesterday Charles E. Paul was fined $400 for transporting twenty gallons of liquor from this city to Santa Barbara by the air route. The machine was also confiscated. The pilot of the plane, Clarence Brogenig, has not pleaded. Judge Blodgett thought the charge of "conspiracy" ought to have been laid against the defendants.

DEFICIT LARGE

Notwithstanding the decrease, the deficit is still large, the report said, and unless revenues increase in greater ratio to expenses there is little hope of materially reducing it in view of fixed charges over which the department has no control.

During the fiscal year there was an increase of $1,351,256 in postal receipts, but expenditures were only $780,885 in excess of those of last year. Considering losses of postal funds through fire, burglary and other causes, the deficit for the year was $60,815,400.

The average per-capita expenditure for postage during the fiscal year was $2.93. Mr. Work reported, making a total of postage collected through stamps alone $81,169,412. Matter mailed without postage stamps aggregated $41,402,601. Total receipts were $122,572,013, compared with $111,124,439 of the previous year. The public bought 14,351,943,813 postage stamps, 57,401,350 special delivery stamps and 1,111,124,439 postal cards. Postal savings deposits and outstanding savings stamps at the end of the year totaled $140,430,157.93, compared to $155,097,543.65 of the previous year. The curve of deposits and withdrawals following the same lines as among the country's saving banks.

EX-SERVICE MEN APPOINTED

Appointment of postmasters has become current, as nearly as civil service laws permit, and of the 7492 Presidential appointments confirmed by the Senate, 1195 were of veterans of the former service men of the World War. The constantly extending rural delivery service continued to take the place of the fourth-class post-offices. The rapid reduction in post-offices in the recent years is shown by the fact that there were in the United States and its possessions on July 1, 1922, 51,947 postoffices, compared with 75,934 on June 30, 1902, a decrease of almost one-third in twenty years.

AIR MAIL SUCCESS

Mails were carried by air over a distance of 1,727,236 miles and 43,988,820 letters were delivered by the air mail service without a single fatality or serious accident to flier. The one death in the entire service was that of a pilot "ferrying" an empty plane between points.

NEW BLOOD IS SOUGHT FOR SAAR

League Personnel Expected to be Radically Changed in Near Future

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
[Copyright, 1922, Public Ledger.]
BERLIN, Dec. 4.—The League of Nations government in the Saar district, which during the last two years administration of the district has failed entirely in winning the sympathy or support of the local population will be radically changed at the coming appointment of a governing commission in an attempt to meet the charges of the inhabitants that the present commission is one-sidedly Franco-philic.
New blood will be introduced in the commission in the hope of establishing an administration in whose neutrality the population will have confidence.
League of Nations representatives while admitting the present commission has few friends in the district asserts this is not due to the commission's personnel which was carefully chosen, but to the bitterly pro-German attitude of the population which resents separation from Germany. The people have opposed League efforts to establish a neutral administration and have taken no thought of the League's mandate under the Versailles Treaty under which the governing commission has no option but to exercise full powers of sovereignty and government until the expiration of the fifteen-year provisional regime.

MIDDLE WEST NEWS IN BRIEF

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

ST. PAUL, Dec. 4.—Nothing more deadly than camera "shootings" must be allowed in the north woods in the near future if the big game life is to be preserved, declare veteran hunters who returned empty-handed during the recent open season. The deadly wolf and the death-dealing rifles of the thousands of nimrods have combined to reduce the big game herds to almost nothing hunters, trappers and foresters agree.

ST. LOUIS
ST. LOUIS, Dec. 4.—In an effort to cut down the number of accidents on the streets, Director of Streets Flak has ordered an ordinance drawn to prohibit children under sixteen years of age from using "kiddy" cars, coasters or any form of "scooters," skates, bicycles or other toy vehicles on the streets.

DES MOINES
DES MOINES, Dec. 4.—Old High Cost of Living has been obliged to climb down from his war-time perch at Iowa State College. This year students are living at less expense than for a number of years. In some of the student boarding clubs the cost of meals has been brought down as low as $4 per week and even below that in one or two instances.
The unusual growth and expansion of Des Moines in the past year, due in great measure to its tremendous building boom, has taxed the resources of the utilities to keep pace with it, and the public utility companies predict a population of 200,000 by 1940, or perhaps 1935.

Merged Road Enemies Have Day in Capital

Oregonians Speak in Favor of Separation

Competition Needed in State, Says Grower

(BY A. P. BENT WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Western opinion favoring separation of the Central Pacific from the Southern Pacific system constituted the bulk of testimony today at the Interstate Commerce Commission's hearing on the Southern Pacific's application to retain control of the Central lines in spite of a Supreme Court decree ordering their division.

H. H. Corey, representing the Oregon Public Service Commission, also was heard, declaring that while his commission did not wish to take sides in the main controversy, it involved some details of the Southern Pacific's plan threatening to interfere with projects for new railroad construction in Central Oregon.

Another Oregon citizen, William Pollman, representing the State Cattle and Horse Raisers' Association, and the Northwest Livestock Shippers' Association, asserted that the best interests of the territory required separation of the two systems.

FAVORS SEPARATION

Edward F. Tredwell, attorney for the California Producers and Shippers' Association, told the commission his organization had 800 members who advocated complete separation of the lines.

Fred H. Wood, counsel for the Southern Pacific, questioned him as to whether his organization was not working with the Union Pa-

NOTICE

Extensive additions to the mechanical equipment of The Times are now being made to meet the tremendous demands of the paper's growth in size and circulation. It is expected that the new machinery, including one of the biggest and finest presses in the world, will be in operation within three weeks. In the meantime, small delays may occasionally occur in the delivery of the paper, due to these readjustments. Every effort is being made to reduce such delay to a minimum.

The Union Pacific has openly contributed and assisted to the work of the producers' association, Mr. Tredwell replied, "but our members are not pledged to forward any disposition of the Central Pacific to the Union Pacific or otherwise. We are simply seeking to urge the carrying out of the Supreme Court decree."

COMPETITION NEEDED

Charles Teague, a Fresno raisin grower, called to testify in behalf of the California association, declared competition in railroad service was needed in California, and that it would be increased by separation of the merged systems.

Mr. Wood again raised the point of Union Pacific activities, when E. O. Howard, a Salt Lake banker, advocated separation. Mr. Howard, in answer to his questions, said the Oregon Short Line, a Union Pacific subsidiary, had contributed money for newspaper advertising in support of division of the systems to a Utah committee, of which he was a member.

Lafayette Hanchett, president of the Utah Power and Light Company, another member of this committee, suggested that the Central Pacific, if turned into an independent transcontinental line, could be electrified, and he argued that this would reduce transportation costs.

Rabbit Skins Sold as Finest Parisian Furs

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

PARIS, Dec. 4.—"Do not buy furs in Paris unless you're an expert," is the advice given Americans by a leading French paper this week, pointing out that since the war has closed the Russian market, remarkable substitutes have been devised but invariably composed of the common or garden rabbit. Leipzig market's best skins found purchasers in London and New York when the mark seemed to have reached its lowest level.

Since then Germany has received only a small part of her prewar consignments and as a lady insists upon novelties in furs French dealers have resorted to artifice. According to a list prepared here already fifty types of furs, difficult to distinguish from the finest kolinsky or Hudson seal, appearing to be great bargains, are merely a tribute to the excellence of French workmanship and the softness of French bunny skins.

TOBACCO LOOMS AS SAN DIEGO INDUSTRY

FORMER TURKISH GROWER BUYS PLANTATION FOR WINE CULTURE

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 4.—Establishment of an extensive tobacco plantation in this county is proposed by T. C. Kilopoli of San Francisco. It was disclosed today when he bought the 100-acre Jamul ranch for a consideration given as $124,000.

Kilopoli, wealthy tobacco grower and formerly owner of large tobacco holdings in Turkey and Smyrna, is said to be backed by an organization of San Francisco capitalists. Turkish tobacco can be produced here, as climatic conditions are favorable, it is declared. The syndicate, it is understood, plans to spend $100,000 on preliminary experimentation. A cigarette factory to be located here is among the future possibilities.

Unsettled conditions in Asia Minor are said to be directly responsible for the decision to start the tobacco industry in San Diego county.

OMAHA STATE BANK CLOSES ITS DOORS

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE.)

OMAHA (Nebr.) Dec. 4.—The American State Bank of Omaha, capitalized at $200,000, was closed today by J. E. Hart, secretary of the State Department of Trade and Commerce. Mr. Hart issued a statement saying the bank's capital was "hopelessly dissipated" and the directors and shareholders were unwilling and unable to make good the impairment.

The bank had deposits of $1,100,000, loans of $1,000,000 and $200,000 worth of "bad paper," according to Mr. Hart who said it had "operated at a loss for several months and all hope of effecting a reorganization was abandoned after several ineffectual efforts were made to interest local capitalists."

TELEPHONE COMPANY WOULD SELL STOCK

(BY A. P. WIRE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—The Associated Telephone Company, operating in Long Beach and San Bernardino, asked the Railroad Commission today for permission to sell 2000 shares of its common stock of $100 par value, the proceeds to be used for new construction, additions and betterments.

The company desires to sell 100 shares at $15 a share and requests the Commission to fix the selling price of the remaining 1900 shares.

GREEK REFUGEES ARE OFFERED AID

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

ATHENS, Dec. 4.—It was said here American relief organizations will assume responsibility for the support of Greek refugees if Greece will install them properly elsewhere. American relief directors have suggested settlements of Greek refugees be established immediately.

Loan to Greece, to be repaid in annual installments and to be used in buying food and clothing for refugees, also is part of the plan.

ITALIAN WORKERS TO AID TREASURY

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

ROME, Dec. 4.—Patriotic workers of Venice have informed Premier Mussolini they will work an extra hour daily and contribute the money to the state for the relief of its finances.

They also suggested other organized workers throughout Italy co-operate as a heroic gesture to the world. Italians are willing to make sacrifices which will net millions to the treasury and reduce the lira exchange and cost of living.

PARIS SAYS CHARITY BELONGS AT HOME

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

PARIS, Dec. 4.—Protesting against the expenditure of 10,000,000 francs for Russian relief, the Petit Journal asks: "Why doesn't the French Red Cross occupy itself with the relief of the inhabitants of the devastated regions, the victims of the high cost of living, the poor and the infirm?"

AIRPLANES HOP OFF FOR PRACTICE FLIGHT

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE.)

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Dec. 4.—Four De Havilland airplanes hopped off from Brooks Field here at 1 o'clock today for San Diego. They are expected to land at El Paso early this afternoon. They will stay all night there and leave Tuesday morning. The formation is headed by Mr. Ralph Royce, commander of Brooks Field. The flight is being made for training purposes.

5 winter trips de luxe to HAWAII

Super Ship H. F. ALEXANDER

FIVE TRIPS to Paradise—five exceptionally attractive mid-winter voyages—five unusual and timely opportunities to visit the land you've longed to see.

The distinctive Mid-Winter service deluxe of the S-S "H. F. Alexander"

America's fastest and most distinguished steamship and one of the largest and most luxurious vessels under the American flag, affords an unusual opportunity to visit this Mid-Pacific Paradise under most favorable and delightful conditions.

The service which will consist of five—just five—trips affords not only the fastest but the most complete and delightful service—the maximum of service, luxury and interest in the minimum of time. A direct call at Hilo, affording day and night view of the world famous Volcano of Kilauea, the most awe-inspiring sight in the world, makes this service most complete.

The mid-Winter season is most delightful in Hawaii for, in reality, winter exists in name only in this island paradise. In fact, the Mid-Pacific Carnival, Honolulu's great annual event, is held during February when the islands are in the midst of their gayest season.

The Super Ship "H. F. ALEXANDER" is an ideal vessel for a service of this character. Her passenger accommodations, which are most attractively and modernly equipped, vary from standard staterooms to suites deluxe, with double or twin beds and private connecting bath. The public rooms, so essential to the comfort and pleasure of such trips, are numerous, spacious and most complete—open to a Children's Playroom. The season's service will consist of five voyages with—

A MOST UNUSUAL GEM DIAMOND

FEAGANS and Co. have just completed the mounting of a most unusual gem diamond.

It is emerald or square cut, the facets being in straight lines in harmony with the shape of the diamond.

The stone weighs between 15 and 14 carats and was personally selected by Mr. Feagans in London, which is the world's headquarters for fine diamonds.

The stone is of "gem" quality—disclosing no imperfections under a powerful magnifying glass.

The ring in which it is set contains also a large number of small square diamonds.

It is surely quite proper that a ring of such magnificence should grace the finger of a Los Angeles woman.

We shall be pleased to show you this marvelous jewel.

TIGER IS BACK IN WASHINGTON

Clemenceau White's Guest During His Four Days in Washington

Will Take Trip to Tomb at Mount Vernon Probably This Afternoon

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—George Clemenceau today brought his campaign for France to the capital. Arriving at dusk he was escorted immediately to the home of Henry White, former Ambassador to France, and a member of the American commission at the Versailles Peace Conference, to rest in preparation for his four-day visit, which will begin officially tomorrow with calls on President Harding and former President Wilson.

The Tiger was greeted at the station by Mr. White, who is his host here; Jules J. Jusserand, French Ambassador to the United States, and Robert W. Bliss, Third Assistant Secretary of State, who presented his department internally. Probably 2000 persons had gathered in the station for a glimpse of the famous war figure who was among the few such who had not visited Washington either during the war or afterward.

CROWD APPLAUDS
A flurry of applause greeted him as he walked slowly through the concourse, and in acknowledgment he doffed his gray felt hat and bowed.

Passing through the Presidential room he entered Mr. White's car and was driven swiftly over Massachusetts avenue and Sixteenth street to Mr. White's Crescent Place home. The Tiger plans to pay his respects at the White House tomorrow at 10 a.m. He will be presented by Ambassador Jusserand. From the White House he expects to drive to the 8 street home of Woodrow Wilson. Then he will return to the White House for luncheon, where he will meet Secretaries Hughes and Mellon.

These are the only definitely scheduled events. It is possible, however, that he will go to Mount Vernon in the afternoon. He has spoken frequently of his eagerness to visit Washington's tomb, and will seize the first opportunity to do so.

Thursday at 10:30 a.m. he will deliver a brief address at the War College to officers who commanded the American division in France. That evening he will appear before the Southern Society to give a message to the South, which was obliged to strike from his itinerary. He will be introduced by Hugh C. Wallace, who was Ambassador to France during the greater part of the peace negotiations at Versailles. His only engagement is a luncheon engagement with President Harding.

Whatever Clemenceau intends to deliver in the nature of a broadside to win American sympathy in the participation in the war, in France will be on Friday—his last day in Washington. Col. E. M. House, who arranged the Tiger's tour of the United States, has said the point that Clemenceau's one and only formal address here will be the address he delivers at 3 p.m. Friday before the Congress of public opinion on world peace, to be held under the auspices of International Lyceum and Chautauque Association.

FOUNDATION SOLID
In it he voiced a plea for a better understanding between the people of the United States and those of France, and declared he was going to take home the message: "Don't fear, but be confident. The feeling we thought she had toward us, and which we have toward her, is put on such a solid foundation that it cannot be moved forever."

He said he realized there might be difficulties between the two governments about interests and actions. "But what is that," he exclaimed, "differing on a matter of today which is not a matter of tomorrow? The bottom of it is that we must not differ on things that are lasting."

"We have a great many defects. We are full of faults, and I wish you would see them in order to love us better, if possible. I think it is so in happy households. A man and a woman who love each other don't know their weak points, cannot love each other as they ought."

"The great point, I want to say, is that we are men, that we want to work for men, that France does not consider only the interest of France, but she takes into account that the best work she can do is to work for mankind in the future."

"We have in Paris a statue of George Washington on his horse, and he is pointing his sword toward the highest. Do not let an American come to the statue of our common hero and tell you to put his arms down. Always to the highest."

"Never down!"

SUE BUILDERS OF ARMY POSTS

Most identical in form, were filed simultaneously at San Antonio, Richmond, Detroit, Little Rock, Des Moines and Trenton. Another suit involving the construction of a large New England camp was to have been filed, but the bill was completed too late.

CUNEO DEFIANT, DEBTS FLOATED

ure, said there had been a war in which England had to acknowledge herself beaten and a truce in which the government did not insert a single line to protect its own friends. For the loyalists it had been a year of hell, and it was now hell.

It was a most cruel and cowardly scuttling away after deserting and abandoning men who only a few months before had been used to try to maintain British authority in Ireland: it was a terrible stain on British honor.

CURSON'S ATTACK

Continuing, Lord Carson declared he was glad the coalition government had fallen. It was just what he needed to prevent it from being a treacherous Irish policy of which Winston Spencer Churchill was the head. Lord Carson feared lest in the future the British government and people should wash their hands of Ireland. That was an impossible policy. To do that would mean that the sort of things now happening in Ireland would continue without reaction on the whole of the British Empire.

Lord Carson said he feared even if an actual republic was proclaimed in Ireland, England would be unable to prevent it. He said he had handed over all her friends and the advantage points to the enemy. He declared that if the present bill had been passed, the British Empire would have won the war. The speaker concluded with a passionate appeal for justice and compensation for the suffering loyalists in South Ireland.

When Mr. Healy's name was first mentioned it was received with astonishment and some incredulity. When a governor-generalship is in question the British mind turns naturally in the direction of some titled personage. Now it is the appointment of Mr. Healy would be singularly appropriate.

In the first place, Mr. Healy, throughout his political career, has been one of the strongest opponents of British connection, and therefore cannot be suspected of the slightest sympathy with British rule in Ireland. Secondly, his appointment would link the Free State with all previous attempts to bring about a settlement, besides being one of the great lights of the Parnell movement, he is connected with still earlier attempts, by means of his relation to T. D. Sullivan, author of "God Save Ireland."

Preparations for the formalities of inaugurating the government and appointing an Irish Senate were afoot in Dublin today, but it will probably be the end of the week before the Senate is constituted.

BOMBED FROM AIR

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS)

CORK, Dec. 4.—An airplane for the first time has been brought into action against the irregulars, with disastrous results to six of them. Well-intentioned Irish ambush near Ennis, Co. Kerry, was called off for reinforcements from National troops brought an airplane to the scene, sighting the irregulars and bombing them. They endeavored to make their escape, some into a neighboring wood, but the airplane circling over them, machine gun fire.

It is believed that a great majority of the irregulars were killed or wounded. The National had one man killed.

DE VALERA SUES

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS)

DUBLIN, Dec. 4.—Suit for $10,000 has been brought against Eamon De Valera, in chancery court by Bishop Fogarty, Dr. Richard Hayes and John Collins, brother of the late Michael Collins, as trustees of the late Michael Collins, together with President Cosgrave as Minister of Finance.

REDS DOMINATE AT LAUSANNE

World War and why the discussion of liberty of the straits is so academic. If the Russians can get fortification for the Turks of course they will not refuse—possibly unless the Allies make a better offer on other points.

The Rumanian project, which the British first made a "profound impression" and later admitted it seemed contradictory, was a military plan in the straits and Black Sea but allowing outside powers to bring in warships both in peace and war-times. This, of course, made the British and the Bessarabian skeleton in their closet naturally preferring it to the sort of proposal which allows the Russian domination.

Telichier left no room for compromise, saying if his project were accepted he would continue to fight for it.

"OPINIONS" DELAYING TRIALS AT HERRIN

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

MARION (Ill.) Dec. 4.—The task of getting the final panel of four men to complete the jury to hear the first of the Herring murder trials was taken up again today, the beginning of the fourth week of the trial.

Twice during the day the State tendered the final panel, but the defense was forced to break it to get rid of men with much hurried "opinions." The question of "opinions" is getting so complex that it is almost a contest in dialectics.

Woman With Dentist at Time of His Death in Chicago Is Identified

The mysterious woman who was with Dr. Edmund G. Dundas, 733 South Alvarado street, when he died Sunday night in Chicago has been identified as Miss Laura McKinley, a Canadian nurse.

She admitted yesterday to the police that she crossed the continent with the dentist, declaring that she paid all expenses. She said she had first met Dr. Dundas twenty years ago and met him again here last July. Declaring that she loved the dentist, she announced her intention of having a headstone erected at his grave, but said that she could not attend his funeral for personal reasons. They were soon to have married said she.

Dr. Dundas, who had an office here at 602 South Flower street died at the Morrison Hotel in Chicago, of organic heart disease. He had registered there with Miss McKinley as man and wife.

After his death his companion turned the body over to an undertaking company, where it was taken charge of by Dr. Charles Allen Somerville, a brother-in-law of the dead man. Dr. Somerville said that at the request of Mrs. Dundas, the dentist's divorced wife, he had arranged for her to be buried in Arlington Cemetery, Chicago.

DELAY HOPEFUL FOR

As Mussolini's acceptance of the London conference has not been received, it may result in delay of the preliminary conference or postponement of the Brussels meeting, which, it is admitted, would find much favor in British official circles, for although the British are anxious to break custom for the first time, devote their cherished week-end days of rest to the work of the preliminary conference, it is not likely they would agree to interruption of the traditional Christmas season when a fortnight's delay would not affect the final settlement.

First Mortgage Corporation

811 VAN NUYS BUILDING

New Los Angeles Enterprise

Has completed construction of the first unit of its factory which is the third largest manufacturing plant in this particular industry west of the Mississippi. WITH ITS FOURTH UNIT IN OPERATION IT WILL BE THE LARGEST.

This plant manufactures a product used throughout the world—the combined purchases in the United States alone exceeding the enormous amount of $210,000,000 per annum. Over $3,000,000 in Los Angeles and vicinity, of which at least 50% will be offered this company without any resistance.

The Factory is located in the industrial section of the city—has 3 acres of land—662 feet of spur track.

With over $100,000 invested in real estate, buildings and materials, the company's properties show an increase in value of over 43% to date.

Every portion of the plant and every department of the business will be under the direction of men equipped by long experience in this particular business. The General Manager has had 20 years' experience, 13 years as Production Manager for one of the largest plants in the United States.

It is conservatively estimated that the first year's earnings will amount to 33 1/3% of the invested capital.

There is no promotion stock—no preferred stock—there is common stock and shares equally in the profits of this company. Every share has been sold for $100.00. The Officers and Directors have paid $100.00 per share for the stock.

This company will bear the most careful and critical investigation.

This is an exceptional opportunity for large or small capital to invest in an industry that earns from 12% to 46% annually on its invested capital throughout the United States, as proved by 1921 earnings' statement.

The image is a vertical, high-contrast scan of a textured surface. It appears to be a book cover or a piece of aged wood. A prominent vertical crease or fold line runs down the center, dividing the image into two halves. The left half is lighter, showing a grainy texture, while the right half is much darker, almost black, with some vertical lines and a rougher texture. The overall appearance is aged and worn.

DECEMBER 5, 1922.—[PART I.] 21

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf of a book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and faint horizontal lines near the top edge. The left edge of the page shows the binding structure, including stitching or staples. There is no text or other markings on the page.

MOTORED TO DIVORCE SUIT

Poetic Theater Owner Made
Defendant by Wife

His Rubaiyat Spells Doom
for Wedded Bliss

"Perfect Day" by Purling
Brook Slays Romance

Robert J. Campbell, wealthy theater owner, wooed the muse and his cashier jointly on an excursion to Camp Baldy, his wife asserted in a divorce complaint filed yesterday. The muse failed to bring action, but the wife did. Devoted to Agnes Rolfe, named by Mrs. Julia A. Campbell as correspondent, the poem proved a factor in ending forty-two years of married life.

The tender, heart-tugging sentiments follow:
Twas on an early spring day
We motored to Camp Baldy.
With my baby by my side so gay,
Twas up the grade the climber climbed.

By the side of the romping stream,
Under the falls so gay, and oh
Twas a perfect day.
We chatted and sooned I would say,
The falls we tarried and
By the side of the stream we dreamed.

Of the past and future, pleasant
days,
We stopped by the brook but
We had no book, and so it got late and

We got no lobster so got left
Prior to the "perfect day" and the inability to get lobster the wife asserts that Campbell offered her half of his property, valued at $200,000, if she would permit him to associate with Agnes Rolfe.
She began suit for divorce but dropped the proceedings. Later, she said, he offered her property valued at $15,000 provided she would divorce him.

Campbell owns the Banner Theater, a motion-picture house at 445 South Main street. Mrs. Campbell said his income was $3000 each week. After Mrs. Campbell became his cashier, according to the plaintiff, Campbell began to spend lavishly on clothes for himself. The Campbells were married in Canada in 1880 and separated on October 25, last. The wife asks $750 each month as alimony. An order was signed yesterday calling upon Campbell to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed for his theater, the wife seeking this means of an accounting to protect her community interests. The order is returnable Friday before Judge Hahn. Attorneys James and Craig and J. Everett Brown represent Mrs. Campbell.

FEE SUITS COMPROMISED

Former Sheriff Cline and County Come to Terms and Bring Litigation to Close

Former Sheriff John C. Cline, individually and through his bondsmen, yesterday compromised the eleven mandamus suits brought by the county. The suit was run down on this extensive litigation in Judge McLean's court with County Counsel Hill and Deputy County Counsel Mattson, the personal attorneys of Mr. Cline and the attorneys for the various bond houses, present.

The money paid yesterday amounted to $10,000. In addition to this Mr. Cline individually paid $2000. The county has collected all told in the Cline cases $25,000. The suits were brought to recover fees received by Mr. Cline while he was Sheriff for the transportation of prisoners, and fees for federal prisoners. The eleven suits just compromised were fees for feeding federal prisoners.

The county contended that Sheriff Cline was not entitled to these fees. Sheriff Cline declared he had this right; one associated by former Sheriff. The suits were hotly contested, Mayor Croy being one of the attorneys engaged by Cline.

WINS OXFORD COURSE

Monrovia Youth Awarded Rhodes Scholarship and Will Go to England Next Fall

MONROVIA, Dec. 4.—Philip W. Buck, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Buck of 530 Alta street, and one of the thirty-two young men in the United States to be awarded Rhodes scholarships, is planning to be a college professor, and maybe a college president. The young man, now 23 years old, and soon to graduate from the University of Idaho, will enter Oxford next autumn. His scholarship provides for three years study with an allowance of three hundred and fifty pounds a year. Buck's winning of the coveted Rhodes scholarship will not surprise his many friends, for he has been winning honors at school ever since he started. When he entered high school at Twin Falls, Idaho, at the beginning of his senior year, the principal told the boy's mother she needn't be disappointed if he didn't do very well, as it was difficult for a student to make progress in a strange school, coming in so late. Buck was graduated as honor student.

The young man spent a year at the Southern Branch of the University of California, but returned to Idaho to complete his university training and get his bachelor of arts degree. He was out of school one year as a member of the Student Army Training Corps.

Debate is Buck's strong point, though his specialties are history and economics. He has been on many high school and college debating teams and last year represented his university in its debate against the University of Chicago. He is now manager of debating at the University of Idaho.

Buck also shines in dramatics and has written two or three plays that have been successfully produced at the university. They are worthy of national copyright, according to the young author's friends and literary advisers.

Buck will spend the summer vacation in Monrovia with his parents, planning to start for England in September.

screen from his pipe as he threw this bombshell. "They wouldn't understand." "What do we care whether the public understands or not?" screamed an Exponentist. "If the public could understand it it wouldn't be art!" declared a Cubist and the battle was on. But even discussions about art must come to an end some time and it was finally decided to have the public exhibition but to postpone it to give more artists a chance to get ready.

If there are any independent artists in Southern California who are not in touch with the Group of Independent Artists, they're invited to do so by Mr. Rushton, whose studio is at 431 Bryson Building.

FINDS VALUABLE PIN
Arthur Fitzgerald, Burns Agency operative, yesterday picked up a diamond bar pin containing 41 stones, valued at $1200, at the Ambassador. He was at the hotel in company with the young author's friends and literary advisers.

"If you don't think Los Angeles county is growing, look at this throng of citizens waiting in lines to pay their taxes," said Tax Collector Welch yesterday. It was the last day for paying taxes, and belated citizens stood crowded in the corridor on the first floor of the Hall of Records, and in the large anteroom, kept in line by ten deputy sheriffs. The great throng debouched on Broadway. They began to gather at 8 a.m. and kept coming until 5 p.m. when the tax office closed.

Between 5 a.m. and 11 a.m. the eight deputies handled the throng at the rate of $600 an hour. In those three hours they received money and checks amounting to $461,750.15.

It was the biggest gathering of taxpayers in one day in the history of the county.

A conservative estimate of the taxpayers for the day was 15,000. The taxes received are estimated at $1,155,000.

The receipts a Saturday taken over the counters were $1,018,954.83. More than $1,000,000 in checks are in the mail.

Starting today, the deputies will devote their attention to the stacks of mail containing checks and money orders.

Al Manning, chief of the criminal department of the Sheriff's office, assisted by a score of deputies, maintained order in the huge line of citizens at the County Tax Collector's office. They were detailed to the double duty of keeping the crowd in line and watching for pickpockets.

Hundreds of taxpayers in the last day rush were informed that they could save time and trouble for themselves and the collector's force by mailing their taxes. The date of the 4th inst. stamped on a letter counts legally to avert chasing tax bills as delinquent.

Conaway Fights
Attack on Two Gas Companies

Councilman Conaway, at yesterday's meeting of the City Council's Public Utilities Committee, voiced his opposition to the present municipal ownership campaign engineered to discredit the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation. He particularly opposes the phase of the move seeking to compel the corporation, as well as the Southern California Gas Company, to take out franchises because of the fact that some of the gas in the pipes is used for cooking as well as for lighting purposes.

"If we require the gas companies to take out franchises," said Mr. Conaway, "we will be simply penalizing the people who in the end must pay for the franchise tax which the city will collect."

The City Council will confer on the matter with the City Attorney Thursday afternoon.

Chased Other Women, Charge of Wife in Suit

For twenty-seven of this thirty-one years of married life, Wayne Shurtz was engaged in "chasing other women," according to a divorce complaint filed by his wife, Mrs. Carrie Shurtz, yesterday.

"He was always in hot water with other women and their husbands," the complaint states, and at one time was forced by an outraged husband to pay him $1200 for an affair with the latter's wife.

Mrs. Shurtz asks $100 a month alimony and the division of $40,000 in community property.

NEW ORDER RULES WORLD

Judge Rutherford Tells Radioland of Transition; KHJ Broadcasts Diversified Program

That the world is now in its greatest stage of transition was the declaration made last night over Radio KHJ by Judge J. F. Rutherford, president of the International Bible Students' Association and a man of international reputation. When he made this declaration he made it plain that by "world" he meant the social, political and ecclesiastical order of things.

"The first world began with Adam," said Judge Rutherford, "and ended with the deluge. Then began a new world which the Scriptures state is reserved for destruction in a very time of trouble. According to Bible chronology and prophecy, the old world legally ended Aug. 1, 1918, and there the outer proceedings began."

Judge Rutherford offered as substantiation of the prophetic words that following great trouble would come great increase in knowledge, the fact that men now fly 248 miles per hour, and know how to talk and be heard thousands of miles. All of these things, he declared, were foretold by the prophets in order that men might have evidence understandable, proving the end of the old order and the beginning of the new.

Attention, Automobile Users

On account of our selling tires on such a close margin, it has always caused trouble with other dealers, especially if we handle a tire that other dealers handle.

We have taken considerable time to try and find a high grade tire upon which we could get the exclusive agency and buy them direct from the factory, getting all the jobber's retailer's and broker's profit in addition to the advertising that is spent on many tires.

We think we have found such a tire and have ordered two carloads for the initial order. To make room for this new line we offer any standard tire we have in stock at the following prices. Prices include war tax:

Fabric Tires	Cord Tires	Cord Tires
30x3, Clincher Non-Skid $6.50 Tubs, $1.50	32x3½, Straight Side, Non-Skid $13.75 Tubs, $1.50	34x4, Straight Side, Non-Skid $17.95 Tubs, $2.15
30x3½, Clincher Non-Skid $7.50 Tubs, $1.50	31x4, Straight Side, Non-Skid $16.40 Tubs, $1.50	32x4½, Straight Side, Non-Skid $21.80 Tubs, $2.15
Cord Tires	Cord Tires	Cord Tires
30x3½, Clincher Non-Skid $8.75 Tubs, $1.50	32x4, Straight Side, Non-Skid $17.40 Tubs, $1.50	35x5, Straight Side, Non-Skid $28.25 Tubs, $2.10

All Tires carry the manufacturers' standard warranty.

Free Delivery

On orders amounting to $20.00 and over, on all goods purchased from us except Sugar, Flour, Grain, Potatoes, Coal Oil and Fruit Jars. On these items if delivered, a small additional charge is made.

Radio last night got some pertinent facts on the "Young-Beatty" lecture, which is really a verse with conditions in Russia made a brief address. Miss Beatty is a forceful speaker who handles her subject well and but a mere sage when she has finished. Besides the lecture and "Uncle John's" bedtime story there was song for the kiddies by a juvenile singer — Margaret Elsieberger, who, accompanied by Myra Belle Vickers, favored with two soprano numbers — "His Buttons Are Marked U. S. A." by Bond, and "The Jap Doll," by Gaynor. This little miss has a voice of much possibility and even now her interpretation is admirable.

The afternoon broadcast was given over to tenor solos and an address. Ed McEwen, tenor, accompanied by Frances Maguire, sang three numbers—"In Old Madrid," by Trotter, "The Magic of Your Eyes," by Penn, and "My Gal Sal," by Paul Dresser.

J. R. Thomas, training officer, representing the State Board of Education Rehabilitation Division, told of the work of his department in assisting those who need it to gain lucrative occupations, even though handicapped by loss of sight or limbs, or for other reasons. The State of California, he said, is appropriating funds to carry on this work and much progress is being made toward returning individuals to economic independence with the minimum expenditure of time and money.

AN URGENT BLOT

Democratic Senators from the South have shown such bitter opposition to the Dyer antilynching bill that it stands little chance of being passed for the present. The United States has the unpleasant distinction of being the only country in the world that permits its citizens to be burned at the stake. While not countenancing these atrocities, the absence of a Federal law leaves the government helpless to cope with the situation.

No other action occurring within our borders brings this country such obloquy abroad as do the southern lynchings. With their attendant details of ghastly inhumanity, it is impossible to convince foreign governments of the atrocity and benevolence of our intentions regarding the Armenians and other persecuted races when we allow such outrages to be perpetrated within our own borders. Throughout Europe and the Near East Americans are believed to be somewhat hypocritical and so hastily engaged in observing the notes in their neighbors' eyes that they cannot see the beams in their own.

Even foreigners who are quite unfamiliar with American history and traditions are fully posted on the blood-curdling details of lynching and have the mistaken idea that they are a matter of daily occurrence. It will take years to educate the individual States to a point where they will take active measures to punish the perpetrators of these outrages. The passage of the Dyer bill would have enabled the Federal government to handle the matter and to wipe out an ugly blot on our national complexion.

BOATS FOR WOMEN

The picture floating at the movie theaters this week shows flying vessels of a single flock of more than 100 vessels under the ownership of the United States Shipping Board and all rotting easily at their moorings. It is presumable that they must be watched and tended like any other flock, but they are not yielding any wool. Probably the average cost of them was over $10,000,000 per each, but Uncle Sam cannot be sure of collecting $10 a head for them. Nobody seems to want a ship. The Shipping Board shows a deficit of $13,000,000 for the quarter ending December 1. The loss for the fiscal year will exceed $51,000,000 and there are a lot of Democrats who would continue to pay this deficit and watch the ships fall into rust and decay rather than confer a subsidy of $20,000,000 to see them operate. That may be good politics, but it is low-grade patriotism and poor business.

Unless there is some change in policy we will presently have a government begging its citizens to take some of the ships off its hands. They will be giving a vessel with every vote. Every little town will be urged to take a ship and run it in its own name. Clubs will be formed for the purpose of taking over the care and operation of some liner and thus save the nation from the shoals of bankruptcy. Ships will be given in lieu of interest payments or alimony. We will have boats for women. Ladies will be urged to adopt some ship and take it out of the maritime kindergarten. It is pretty tough when a $10,000,000 seadog becomes a liability instead of an asset, but that is the situation into which we will have fallen because of failure to formulate an intelligent program for the operation of a merchant marine.

REWARDS FOR MERIT

Los Angeles has just furnished another proof that merit sooner or later wins its reward as surely as water finds its true level.

An artist working for years, unknown and unrecognized, but with faith in her ability and patience to wait for her opportunity, has received the grand prize at the second competitive exhibition of California artists. Miss Viola Hoffman has at last won recognition, not alone because she painted a picture that deserved it, but because she also knew and seized the right means for presenting it.

No artist, whether in words, colors, musical harmonies or dramatic mimicry, who has a worthwhile message to deliver, fails to receive the reward he merits. The message may be something the world is waiting for. But before he receives the reward he must first deliver the message. Nor should he leave this to chance. He must either find or make an opportunity.

A literary masterpiece, buried away in an old trunk, an immortal painting hidden in a dusty attic, a melody for the ages carried around in a musician's breast pocket receive no reward because they deserve none.

An artist nowadays must also be a salesman. Instead of the two talents being incompatible, they are, in fact, complementary. Perseverance is the keynote of both. He who possesses the perseverance necessary to produce a true work of art will also possess the perseverance necessary to discover the right quarters for disposing of it.

That is why the world today takes little stock in the poet who starves in a garret and generally passes up "the born-to-blush-unseen" label. A poet too negative to push his wares is too negative to write good poetry. Lazy talent gets a bad name. Active merit never fails of its reward. At least in the United States.

MORE ROYAL JETSMAN

Prince Andrew of Greece has been added to the remnants of royalty now floating about Europe and America. Never before were there so many royal and aristocratic exiles. They are as numerous now as the radical exiles were before the war.

How the wheel of political fortune turns! Two years ago the aristocratic governments of Europe were tracking down the anarchists and Socialists and generally decapitating them when they were caught. Now the European pendulum has swung toward the radicals. In many places the anarchists and Socialists are in power; and the hunted have turned hunters.

Since the World War there has been but scant security for the extremists of any class in government. Where the Reds control it is open season for the nobility; and where the nobility is still supreme it is dangerous or exile for the Reds.

Fortunate are those countries governed by laws and not by classes, where representative forms are observed and where equal suffrage gives a vent for pent-up emotions at the ballot box; where constitutions can be changed without resort to violent revolutions.

Prince Andrew of Greece is perhaps fortunate that he has been permitted to follow his royal father into exile. The Greek revolutionists demanded that he should be executed, along with the others charged with losing the war against Turkey. It was proved that he refused to obey orders while leading an army from behind-the-scenes; but his insubordination was attributed to ignorance rather than to design.

Bulgaria is likely soon to add to the number of titled expatriates. The people of that country voted in a referendum to try the members of the government who were in power when Bulgaria entered the Balkan War and, later, the World War. A radical peasant group is now in control of the Bulgarian government and courts; and they are inclined to slay as many members of the old nobility as they can apprehend. Bulgaria is not far removed from Bolshevism.

Since the World War every country has its refugees; and our own is no exception. There are scores of Russians and many Mexicans in the United States who would be cast into prison if they were to re-enter their native lands. There are scores of refugee Americans in Mexico and a few in Germany and Russia. They have all committed crimes here that would mean imprisonment or death if they could be brought to trial. Most of these are men who fled the country to evade service during the war; but some of them are thieves and murderers.

Russia welcomes with open arms all criminals fleeing from American justice, and the greater their crime the more hearty their welcome. For Russia dreams that these exiles will be available to pilot the Russian revolutionists when they overthrow the constitutional government of our country. How foolish that idea sounds to us; but we must remember that, if the mass of the Russians were not naive enough to believe such things, there would be no Bolshevik government in Russia.

LOVE DETECTOR

A physician in San Francisco has perfected an ingenious device that he designates a "love detector." When a gallant knight fails on one knee and proclaims his undying devotion to a damsel she can clap this instrument against his heaving chest and promptly ascertain if his affections are 100 per cent true. The situation could, of course, be reversed and the length and breadth of the lady's love be measured, but it would be difficult for a man to do this without appearing frightfully unchivalrous.

This mechanical era in which we live is becoming more and more destructive of our privacy. If you cannot retire into the secret chamber of your own thoughts without someone rushing in with life detectors and love detectors and other inventions for boring open the human cranium and observing how the wheels inside go round, then life will lose its few remaining charms.

This latest mechanical contrivance for measuring such an abstract and ethereal thing as love has some engaging possibilities. If carried into practical, everyday use it would nip short the career of many a budding Don Juan. And it would test the wanting of their helpmates' affections. No more would they have to be tormented with uncertainty as to whether their good providers were as devoted as when the wedding bells were pealing their gladsome chiming. It looks like a dark future for flirtatious and frivolous souls whose affections are inclined to wander hither and yon.

CHINESE TRADE OPPORTUNITIES

As a result of his recent oriental tour Capt. John D. Fredericks, Chamber of Commerce president, has gathered a heap of useful information for Los Angeles manufacturers, exporters and business interests on the possibilities of increasing our trade with China through our own harbor at San Pedro and on the right of way going after it.

Nearly one-half of the world's population resides in China and India and adjacent territory. Their needs are stupendous, while so far they have scarcely been skimmed by American providers. The Pacific Ocean holds the world's commerce as far as density of population is concerned.

If business had given half the attention to Pacific commerce it has given in the past to Atlantic—if now it would start in earnest to develop a commerce with the densely populated portions of the Orient proportional to their needs—the Pacific could be more thickly marked with steamship lines than the Atlantic and ports from Seattle to San Diego could rival the ports of New York and New Orleans.

In this development of Chinese trade Los Angeles Harbor would hold a commanding position. For from its wharves and docks is the shortest passage across the Pacific to the busiest centers of China and the Far East. Los Angeles is on the direct route from the manufacturing districts of the East. Moreover, in California itself we are developing industries and agricultural products that already call for a steady export trade to meet the increasing supplies.

China is acknowledged today as the finest field left in the world for building up international business. Furthermore, the Chinese would rather trade with the United States than with any other nation. But we must be businesslike as well as benevolent.

No indictment by the grand jury in the Hall-Mills double murder, at New Brunswick, N. J. The authorities did not begin to investigate until all the evidence had been removed. A fine set of officials.

What the European nations need at Lausanne is a magician. What a place it would have been for Keller, the Los Angeles necromancer, who recently died. They require somebody who can pull a bunch of rabbits out of a hat.

Greece evidently knows what to do with her ex-war Cabinet minister. She shoots 'em. It must make Josephus Daniels, Newton Diehl Baker and Albert Sidney Burleson give three cheers that their postoffice address is not Athens.

The Los Angeles Bar Association is on record as being opposed to the introduction of insanity pleas in future murder trials; they favor the mentality of the defendant being determined by a board of alienists previous to the trial. It is time for a change of scene. The insanity dodge has been worn to a frazzle in the local courts.

THIS IS THE DAY

Martin Van Buren, eighth President of the United States, was born at Kinderhook, N. Y., in the year 1782 and died there eighty years later. He was nominated for President by the Democratic party in 1836 and beat his Whig opponent, William Henry Harrison, by a large majority. He served only one term. The chief events of his administration were the Seminole War, the invention of the magnetic telegraph and the financial panic of 1837.

WEDDED BLISS

At Doors the shell-worm bridegroom dwells and can't from gloom emerge; the echoes of his wedding bells are sadder than a dirge. All wearily his form he decks in garb of princely taste and struts while leering not fair to unfortunate or even grinning humans to expose them to this hazard and until the place is steamed and sterilized he will exempt traffic violators from its intimate perils. In the meantime he is finding speeders heavily, taking their licenses away for thirty days and giving them suspended sentences to be served when the jail is made vermin-proof. This program may be said to fairly cover the ground.

This program may be said to fairly cover the ground.

In fact, it was considered just an ordinary mill run working day for the Malevolent and Protected Order of Automobile Thieves.

It is getting so that when one buys a motor car he is entitled to feel that he is doing so as much, if not more, from altruistic motives as selfish ones. He not only may be acquiring the car for the benefit of others instead of for his own uses, but those others in all probability will be perfect strangers to him, who will take the car he has so generously provided without so much as saying "thank you," much less "by your leave."

Of all stale words of pen or tongue the saddest are these: "Something must be done." Yet they demand rearing in this case. And it should be done in great haste. Maybe the car owners and the car thieves could get together and come to an agreement. Something like the tag-day idea might be feasible—everyone losing a car by theft would be permitted to hang a tag on his next car which would make him immune from car thieves for one year at least. Or maybe the motorists could agree always to keep two cars on hand instead of one—a Ford for stealing purposes and a motor car to ride in.

It is apparent that "something" not only should but can be done, if the officers and motorists get their minds on it right.

GREEKS WOULD RETURN

If the Greek government would cease its hostilities against the Turks its refugees could eventually return to their original haunts. The Turks cannot get along without the Greeks, who are the backbone of all business in their country. The Greeks control the business and financial affairs in Constantinople and are the most industrious residents in Asia Minor. And, despite their recent, tragic experience, they will all fly back to Turkey at the first opportunity when they can safely go and resume their former activities. There is a much richer field for the exercise of their native genius for trade among the Turks than in America, which already possesses a good-sized crop of astute business heads.

DETAILS OF PRISON

The Long Beach magistrate has a heart that beats for his fellows. He says he will not send local speeders to the beach bastille until the place is thoroughly fumigated. It seems that there are 30,000 cooties wandering over the place waiting for their board and lodging. Every time a new prisoner enters the jail he is fought for by these bugs and the first 100 winners move in. The judge says that it is not fair to unfortunate or even grinning humans to expose them to this hazard and until the place is steamed and sterilized he will exempt traffic violators from its intimate perils. In the meantime he is finding speeders heavily, taking their licenses away for thirty days and giving them suspended sentences to be served when the jail is made vermin-proof. This program may be said to fairly cover the ground.

ENCOURAGING CAR THIEVES

Sixteen automobiles were stolen in Los Angeles in one day. But there was nothing astonishing in that. The report of the thefts was an "outside" story. It was too commonplace to be worth featuring and was given only a couple of sticks well "inside."

CORAL REEFS IN OUR DESERT

BY GILBERT E. RAILLEY, Ph.D.
 University Southern California

The natural place to look for a coral reef is around some South Sea island where coconut palms gracefully sway in the warm sea breezes; and the last place one would look is on top of a lonely mountain peak standing in a desolate, parched desert 150 miles from the sound of the sea.

"Facts are stranger than fiction" and a real and truly coral reef has been discovered in the heart of the Colorado Desert, in Imperial county; and, better still, the corals are not dull and dirty old fossils that show their ages, but they are as clean and snow-white and young looking as any you can buy in the shell stores.

This coral reef cuts across Coyote Mountain—Carlsbad Mountain—and also Fish Mountain—Black Mountain—that lies to the north. It is only about eight miles northwest of Coyote, well on the auto road from San Diego to Imperial; and the railroad passes within a mile of the reef at one point. The place is best reached by the old Butterfield stage road from Julian to the Imperial Valley.

The old Carlsbad stage station is about five miles west of the reef and is marked by a large mile swamp and two good springs of water, affording a good camping place for the explorer. The corals are found in Barret, Garnet, Alvarado canyons and other points on the reef, but the best place for the collector is near the head of Alvarado Canyon on the south flank of Coyote Mt., about a mile up the canyon from the old stage road.

The geology of these mountains is of special interest, affording a key to the formations buried to the east beneath the hot sands of the desert. In Alvarado Canyon about 150 feet of Miocene sandstones, sandy shales and conglomerates are exposed, which are known as the "Santa Margarita formation."

These sandstones have preserved the ancient corals in all their original beauty and, as the sands are not very hard, the splendid coral heads are readily cut out. To the east of the reef the slopes of Coyote and Black mountains are made up of a series of bedded tufts, volcanic conglomerates—some of which is indolite—and interbedded sandstones and shales. The shales are greenish, yellow and pink and are eroded and gullied into "badland" forms. The general dip of the strata is northeast, exposing three formations, as follows:

(1.) Monterey formation of dark shales and sandstones.

(2.) Santa Margarita formation of light-colored sandstones and greenish shales.

(3.) Yubba formation—named for the spring near the same reef—consisting of clays and sandy clays, merging into the sands of the valley.

It is not difficult to read the history of this reef as the mountains were islands in the Miocene sea and are built up of volcanic material. The flanks of the mountain islands were submerged beneath the waters of a clear ocean which swarmed with fishes and sea life with seaweeds. Later on the clear salt water gave place to muddy waters in which the giant oysters—Ostrea titans—fourished and fattened.

At the close of the Miocene period, when the sea was withdrawn and the land elevated, the oysters and corals were buried under the later sediments.

A study of the corals and other fossils present leads to certain interesting deductions: (1.)—The coral reef is both Atlantic and Pacific in its affinities as some of the forms of life are related to those of the West Indies and Florida.

(2.)—That means a water connection across Mexico in the Miocene period. (3.)—Later on the Atlantic forms of life grew less and less, indicating that land barriers across this water connection; while the Pacific forms of life increased.

(4.)—That the temperature of the ocean was not less than 55 degrees F. during the coldest weather, and that the water was not deeper than 150 to 160 feet. (5.)—That the sea was frequently stormy, and the sunlight was bright and tropical.

The living forms of the corals, which are known as the "Flora Animals," are the same as those of the coral reef. When they are babies they swim freely, but later on they attach themselves to shells and stones and build up colonies of starlike cups, looking like tufts of glassy-white translucent moss. They are quaint little animals, having a cuplike body which has muscled that close the top, as the sea is closed with puckering string. They have long, thread-like tentacles armed with barbs for catching their food, and they secrete a poison that paralyzes their prey. They can only exist where minute forms of foods are abundant; where the bottom of the sea is hard and free from silt; where the waters are warm the year through and not deep; and where the skies are bright and tropical.

The little bodies are divided by vertical plates and secrete lime from the sea water, forming what we call coral.

There are a number of other coral reefs in this State, but none with such beautiful white specimens. In Inyo county in Waco Canyon there is a reef of sponge-like corals (Arcocyathus) of Cambrian age, and a few miles south is a reef of honey-comb corals of Silurian age. Other reefs are known in San Bernardino and Plumas counties. All are high in the mountains from 2000 to 3000 feet above present sea level.

A Gob of Gloom for the Vestal

"Tiny" Morton, U.S.S. New York Halfback in Action

The young gentleman shown packing the ball in the above picture is one reason why the New York eleven won the grid title of Squadron Four yesterday afternoon at Trona Field by trimming the U.S.S. Vestal, 25 to 0. Norton, who weighs about 180 pounds, was directly or indirectly responsible for four of his team's five touchdowns and was the big hero of the day. He passed the ball to Charmonie for the first score, ploughed the union fourteen yards over the line in two tries for the third score, ploughed through the center of the line for thirty yards for the fourth touchdown and passed to Waldrop, who ran fifty yards for the final touchdown.

Undefeated Glendale Team Loses First Game in Semi-Final Round of Play

By defeating Glendale in the semi-final round of the Southern California interscholastic championship, 3 to 0, the Huntington Park lightweights team yesterday afternoon at Patterson Field, won the right to play Pasadena for the final championship. The lone tally came in the last two minutes of play in the third quarter when Skelton, fast right half of the Pink team, dropped a neat boot from the 20-yard line and at a hard angle in the bargain.

NEW CRAFT IS A WHIRLWIND

Miss Detroit VI Will be Shipped to Coast

Owner Says She Will Trim All on Pacific

Expected to Show Class During Holidays

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
DETROIT (Mich.) Dec. 4.—Commodore Gar Wood has announced that the new hydroplane which he is having prepared at Algonac for the ocean races at Los Angeles during the holidays will be known as Miss Detroit VI. She will be the first of these boats to campaign for two years, the last being the Miss Detroit V, which finished second to the winner, Miss America I, in the 1922 Harmsworth at Cowes.

IN A COCKPIT
In the Miss Detroit V the pilot sat forward in a cockpit, well up toward the bow but in the new craft he and the mechanic will both sit in the cockpit aft of the engine. The Miss Detroit VI will have a flush deck, the only break being for the after-cockpit, the engines being completely housed in under hatches, the same type of installation as the Maple Leaf VII, which came over from England for the 1921 Harmsworth.

Commodore Wood expects the craft to be fast enough to defeat anything the Pacific Coast sportsmen have raced previously or have built for the coming season race to Catalina, but would not give out any estimate of speed. The Miss Detroit V with similar lines and the same horse-power, was rated at sixty-five miles an hour, about five miles under the Miss America on a circular course. The new boat should be equally fast in smooth water, although she is more sturdily constructed to stand the buffeting of the seas in case of rough weather.

NO DATE FIXED
Los Angeles sportsmen have not fixed a definite date for the race as weather conditions must be such that the sea will not swamp the boats. The bulk of the competition will be run-abouts with much more open space to ship water than Commodore Wood's hydroplane. Due to the size of Miss Detroit (Continued on Second Page)

WHO CARES

WILTON GRABS PASS
In the second quarter Huntington Park had the ball most of the time. They opened up in their tactics and pulled a lot of trick hidden ball plays that completely baffled the Glendale. Glendale tried a pass in the middle of the quarter which was intercepted by Wilton and run back up the field for a neat 50 yards. After a series of bucks, however, they were forced to let the ball go in the Glendale 5-yard line. Glendale kicked out of danger and after a few more plays the quarter ended.

In the third quarter Huntington Park tightened up again and rushed the ball at will. However, they failed to put it across when they were in a critical position. Glendale started throwing in substitutes in the canto which weakened the force of the Huntington Park offense. Toward the end of the quarter as a last hope of scoring, a field goal was put through the bars.

The fourth quarter saw the Glendale boys staging a desperate rally, but they seemed too far gone to do much harm. Both teams threw in a flock of subs which speeded the game up a little. The ball remained in the center of the field for the most part. Toward the end of the quarter, with but two minutes to go, Glendale rushed the ball up the field to the own 5-yard line and things looked as if the score would be at least 6 to 2. On a play that would have given them first down, the quarter finished and their chance was lost. A boot, and a few more plays and the game was over. The final score was: Huntington Park, 3; Glendale, 0.

PADDOCK PLANS TO DON SPIKES

"I will try to win more honors for my alma mater next year," were the words of Charles W. Paddock, world's champion sprinter in declaring his intentions of re-entering the University of Southern California in February. Sir Charles declared last night that, although he had ample credits to graduate from the Trojan institution, he is desirous of increasing his knowledge of English that he might be better prepared for a journalistic career, upon which he has already successfully embarked.

Paddock stated that he had had two years' athletic work at U.S.C. and that he was desirous of bearing the Trojan standard on the cinder-path for another semester. The champion runner declared that he had rejected the invitation to participate with two other American track stars in the New Zealand sport carnival for the reason that should he have been able to return to California in time for the beginning of the new school semester on February 6.

929 South Broadway is the $30,000 model of Greater Los Angeles

One of the most interesting sights of Los Angeles is the big reproduction of the City and its Metropolitan Area now on public exhibition at 929 S. Broadway.

If you, or your friends, have not yet seen this model you should do so at the earliest opportunity. It is as wide as a city lot and thirty-eight feet deep. An hour's study of this map will give you a new conception of Los Angeles and its amazing growth.

Shows Growth of Los Angeles

Literally thousands of tiny wooden carvings compose the houses, office buildings, docks, steamboats, railroad trains, oil rigs, etc., that are shown. The work has been done so accurately that many are able to locate their places of business and sometimes their actual dwellings.

Because Palos Verdes Estates wants you to know about the growth of Los Angeles and the proposed construction on the Palos Verdes tract, no admission is charged.

You may come in any time between 9 a. m. and 10 p. m. and stay as long as you like. An attendant is always ready to explain the model and its interesting features.

POLICE SEEKING FOR MME. ENID

Blackmailer Escapes After Multing Victims

Special Prey Was Married Men "Out for a Time"

Last Act "Outraged Husband" Demanding Cash

Mme. Enid, known to the police as the queen of a ring of blackmailers who have already victimized three prominent local business men, last Friday night escaped from her apartment-house near Eighth and Alvarado streets after eluding a score of private detectives employed by her victims.

The case of the blackmail queen known only by the name of Mme. Enid, came to light late yesterday afternoon when Detective Nick Harris of the Nick Harris Detective Agency announced the woman had escaped. He declared a number of his detectives discovered the much-wanted woman had fled from her apartment-house when they closed in on the establishment to effect her arrest.

MARRIED MEN FALL.
Mme. Enid, with a number of male helpers, first began operations in this city about a month ago, according to Detective Harris. Married men out for a "time" were the victims angled for by Mme. Enid. When one was caught once he was not allowed to go until squeezed dry. Money, automobiles, fur coats and other articles of value were demanded by Mme. Enid at the price of silence. The last act of her personally conducted show, according to the detective, was always an outraged husband demanding that his honor be satisfied with cash.

Three of Mme. Enid's victims reported their losses to the Harris Agency. In every case they stated they met the woman in a road-house or through friends. She posed as a widow and seemed to have plenty of money. She supported a large apartment in an exclusive apartment-house and was well supplied with liquor.

MIDNIGHT PARTIES.
Midnight parties with liquor much in evidence and which ended with the victim remaining in the apartment for the greater portion of the night was the method employed by Mme. Enid. The next day was always pay day for the woman, according to the victims. She called at their downtown offices and demanded money, clothing and automobiles. She threatened to call upon her victims' wives.

The money was paid and the automobiles purchased. Then the victims called upon the authorities for help.

While refusing to make public the names of the three business men who employed him, Detective Harris last night declared that his men are still looking for Mme. Enid. He stated that she is about 32 years of age, has black hair and eyes, is about five feet six inches in height and is very pretty. She poses as a way widow and says she is spending the winter in this city. It is believed by the detective that Mme. Enid, fearing arrest, has fled to some eastern city.

MRS. BOND IS ILL.
Noted Composer Has Severe Cold; Confined to Home

Carrie Jacobs Bond, composer, today was reported seriously ill at her home on Pinehurst Road, Hollywood. It is said that she is suffering from a severe cold that may at any time develop into pneumonia.

Mrs. Bond, according to close friends, will be unable to appear on the program of the Hollywood Community Chorus this evening, as was announced last week.

TO BREAK UP A COLD IN ONE NIGHT

First of all, procure a 50-cent jar of "Deo," the famous Eucalyptus Ointment, from any reliable drugist. Gently heat a spoonful of the ointment in a tin plate or cup and draw in deep breaths of the pleasant, soothing vapor. Continue the treatment for several minutes, so that the vapor will penetrate every nook and corner of the respiratory tract. This cleans the head and begins at once to destroy germs which have attacked the mucous membrane.

Place a small quantity of "Deo" in the nostrils and sniff well up into the nasal cavity. Next, apply a good coating of the ointment to your neck and chest, rub well in, and cover with flannel to bed immediately, and when you wake up in the morning you'll feel like a different person.

"Deo" is composed of pure eucalyptus and several other fine oils that are noted for their antiseptic, healing properties. Containing nothing injurious. Used for more than 20 years in the treatment of colds, catarrh, coughs, croup, influenza, bronchitis, asthma and respiratory troubles. Guaranteed to give satisfactory results or money back. For sale by leading druggists everywhere. Deo-Mfg. Co. Makers, Berkeley, Cal.—(Advertisement.)

'BOND OF HONOR' WAS AMBITIOUS

Wanted to Buy Leviathan on "Dollar Down" Plan

Raid on "Provoct" Reveals Promoters' Plans

Corporation With Enormous Capital Designed

Promotion of the "Bond of Honor" plan, interrupted by Times investigators and Federal officials, did not limit the mental activities of F. A. Clow, "Provoct" of the Bond of Honor, Department of Justice agents declared yesterday.

For among paper seized at the Bond of Honor headquarters, 634 West Sixth street, Leon Bone, special agent of the department, found—

Plans for the purchase of the giant steamer Leviathan from the United States Shipping Board for $50,000,000 one dollar down.

Plans for purchasing 1500 other steel freight and passenger vessels and 27 triple expansion marine engines, also from the Shipping Board.

Plans for the formation of a bonding corporation with capital stock of only $2,500,000,000.

Plans for getting 50,000 sailors discharged from the United States Navy, at so much per discharge.

THOUSANDS TAKEN

Federal officials estimated that Clow and his associates had actually secured about $50,000 by their manipulations in the "mucker market" and that if all his schemes had been carried out he would have been in a position to extinguish all the European war debts and have a surplus left.

Clow, who is now in jail in default of $5000 bail, charged with "superstitioning" a Federal officer, actually drew up a "contract" for the purchase of the Leviathan and other ships from the Shipping Board, which was signed by himself and counter-signed by his co-defendants, A. F. Hathaway and James Lindsay, and was acknowledged before A. F. Bourke, a notary public, on April 18, 1922.

OFFER DECLINED

The contract, it appears, was actually sent to the United States Shipping Board and declined by that body in a letter signed by Ralph Solitt, assistant to the chairman. One dollar was to be paid to bring the bargain and the balance was to be paid at the United States treasury in Washington within a year, with interest at 6 per cent. The 1500 other vessels were to be bought on the same terms, at a price of $40 a ton displacement. For the marine engines Clow offered 1 cent a pound.

Clow was president of the North American Bonding Company, Ltd., a corporation apparently organized under the laws of Arizona, with $1,000,000 authorized capital stock. The offices of the corporation were at 207 American Bank Building, it appeared from the papers, according to Mr. Bone.

A fine collection of beautifully printed first-mortgage bonds in denominations of $1000, $500, $100 and $50 of this corporation were found. They were printed in gold ink and had a gold seal. These bonds, Mr. Bone said, were to be countersigned by M. E. Mick as secretary. This name had not previously been brought into the investigation.

Scores of sailors from the U.S.S. Pennsylvania appear to have "fallen" for Clow's scheme to get them discharged from the Navy, according to the records. A whole book of receipts given to the sailors, marked on the cover "The Boys of the Pennsylvania," was among the papers found.

The sailors' money was paid, it appeared, for the purchase of bonds it was necessary for them to have in order to secure the intervention of the Bond of Honor to get their names off the Navy list.

Before he invented his scheme for getting 60,000 men out of the Navy, Clow, it was learned from sailors of the Pennsylvania, tried to sell shares in a $1,000,000 potash and timber corporation to naval officers and men. Several "invested" amounts from $100 down in December, 1921, Clow appointed several sailors as agents at 5 per cent commission and induced them to "invest" their commissions also.

He said the potash claims consisted of two properties of about 1000 acres each. "Two billion tons of fertilizer," said Clow in his literature, "a low-base value of $1 a ton, amounts to $2,000,000,000. Where dollars make dollars."

One of the properties had "ash-colored soil 200 feet deep, containing 5 per cent potash," the other "hydrated siliceous" (whatever that is) fifty feet deep "in many places." "These properties are a dredge proposition near a railroad," he declared.

The timber, he declared, consisted of 1200 acres "crisscrossed 600 feet virgin pine" with enough water power on the property to develop more electricity than was needed to manufacture the timber into finished commodities. He proposed to put a furniture factory on the property and turn the logs into bedsteads on the spot, the sailors declared.

On his letterhead, Clow said he had had twenty years experience in mining and was the "owner of mines, timber and other properties" and "builder of electrically-equipped mills." Shares in the scheme were offered at $5 down and $5 a month.

FRUIT GROWERS' HEADS MEET IN CONVENTION

Heads of various associations of fruit and vegetable growers of Southern California are to appear as speakers at the fifty-fifth State fruit growers' and farmers' convention opening at Sacramento on the 12th inst. The session will extend over three days and will be presided over by State Director of Agriculture, J. C. H. Ramsey of the California Fruit Growers' Association; Secretary Cunningham of the Southern California Canner's League; and by H. J. Ramsey of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

A feature of the convention will be the banquet to be held on the night of the 12th inst., at which Gov.-elect Richardson will be the guest of honor.

MEXICANS FREE
CONDEMNED JAPReleased From Jail, Where
He Waited ExecutionDeath Sentence Canceled for Former GeneralDetection Tells of Trip After Accused

Salvador L. Yokoyama, Japanese mining promoter, who is wanted in Los Angeles on a series of charges growing out of alleged fraud in the sale of stock, was released yesterday from the Tijuana jail, where he was awaiting execution as a death warrant issued by the Mexican government five years ago.

Yokoyama was formerly a major-general in the Mexican army. He was sentenced to death for aiding and abetting the government, but sentence was stayed through bankruptcy. Fleeing to Mexico to escape arrest at the hands of Mexican military authorities, he was taken into custody by Tijuana military authorities.

The death of the accused was announced yesterday and he was given the freedom of the city, but was not permitted to leave until his case at Mexico City.

MANY CHARGES HERE
Charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, embezzlement, grand larceny and violation of the Corporate Securities Act, as well as a civil suit, are pending against him in Los Angeles county. According to County, who returned yesterday evening from Tijuana, Yokoyama expressed willingness to come back and face trial. Yokoyama is constantly attended by two Japanese bodyguards. Quisly said.

Quisly told of his trip from Tijuana to the border with Yokoyama after he had arrested him at the end of a guard starting at San Diego. They were accompanied by Dr. J. J. Medina, a doctor. Yokoyama was taken to the border and held in a room until he could communicate with Tijuana military authorities. Quisly spent two hours in jail as a result of having his medical attention refused.

OFFICIALS CHANGED
An active change in Tijuana officials was made last Friday, according to Quisly. Gen. J. M. P. was in new in complete charge of military affairs in the northern section of Lower California. His family is residing in Los Angeles and he is expected to visit here soon.

Gen. Luis R. Parada succeeded Gen. P. as commander of the military office of Tijuana. Col. Roberto is preparing to return to Mexico City. He will come to Los Angeles to take passage by boat. The new mayor is the new prosecutor. A new Mayor, new police chief and new judges are expected here.

not believe in any government ownership. It is not right for us to have to use English ships and others to transport our goods.

"The Middle West should see that the ship subsidy means as much to it as to the East. It means a proper way to carry the cotton and grain. I am glad to hear that you on this Coast are for it."

"But not much," he added. "The present crisis is fair, but not profitable to the manufacturer. The cost of labor and especially the shipping costs are too great. Later, it should be well paid, but there should be an economic adjustment. The price must be equitable."

OUTLOOK BRIGHT
The steel men's outlook is brighter than it has been for years. They believe that this year will have a greater development in business, industry and shipping than any other part of the country. And his inspection of the Los Angeles Harbor district, yesterday, particularly the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp.'s plant, showed him the realization, not yet completed, of his prediction.

When asked about the progress to manufacture steel here from ores and coal in Nevada and other parts of the Northwest, he said: "For a long time I have had in mind the manufacture of steel on this Coast. You have the ore in the neighborhood, but I don't know whether your western coal will work. I had had in mind Alaska coal."

NO FLAVOR TEST
"But I do not think that at present steel could be manufactured here with the proper margin of profit, because you have not yet reached a stage where the demand will make possible the quantity production necessary. That means more manufacturing. You will reach that stage in time and then surely the steel plants will come here."

"My company is now shipping the products of Bethlehem directly to Los Angeles," he said. "I think you people out here ought to use our steel. We are interested in Los Angeles and as for our shipbuilding plant, here we could grow along with your harbor."

"I like Los Angeles better every time I see it," he said. "And there is no doubt that the Port of Los Angeles has wonderful future. There aren't representatives enough to describe it. It is destined to be a great shipping center."

PLANS REFINANCING
Mr. Schwab himself would not talk about plans for the Bethlehem yards, but one of his party said extensive improvements and extensions were under contemplation. These included the construction of an even bigger drydock than the 13,000-ton structure now there, a Diesel marine engine plant and increased facilities for shipbuilding and repair.

The company also will co-operate with the Tonalop Extension Mining Company and the Los Angeles Pacific Railroad in the import and export business of the port. One of the plans of the company, it was said, is the importation of iron ore from Chile.

In Mr. Schwab's party were J. A. Talbot, vice-president of the Western Pipe and Steel Company of Los Angeles, who was connected with the Bethlehem shipyards during the war; Dr. M. R. Ward, president of the Tonalop Extension Mining Company; and John Kirchman, vice-president; E. R. Hill, vice-president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation; Ben Page, Bethlehem Steel Corporation attorney; and A. S. Gunn, general manager of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation.

After the inspection of the harbor the party went to the Alexandria, where Mr. Talbot gave a luncheon to which several Los Angeles business men and bankers were invited.

Among them were: Marco H. Bullman, Irving E. Bellman, Ross Llewellyn, David Llewellyn, Walter Taylor, R. H. Lacy, E. Cohen, W. F. Howard, W. G. Talbot H. G. Talbot, L. E. Johnson, Harry Haldeman, Louis M. Cole, E. W. Clark, Edward Tuffa, W. E. Keller, R. W. Robinson, Lionel Barnison, William May Garland.

Mr. Schwab is at the Ambassador. He expects to leave Thursday for the West, stopping at St. Louis for a few days.

MRS. OBENCHAIN RELEASED

Woolwine Asks Dismissal of Murder Charges on Grounds of Insufficient Evidence

DISMISSAL CHARGES
The final entry in the remarkable murder case was written yesterday afternoon when Dist. Atty. Woolwine, following a conference between himself, Chief Dep. Dist. Atty. Keyes, Paul Schenk, Richard Kittrell, attorneys for Burch, and Judge Shenk, asked that the indictments against Mrs. Obenchain and Burch be dismissed. Judge Shenk granted the motion.

Following this, Paul Schenk produced an affidavit sworn to by himself asserting Burch to be unbalanced mentally, and a warrant for the latter's arrest was issued. Later Burch was taken from the County Jail to the County Hospital, where he remained before Judge Weyl and a hearing was set for Thursday.

The final entry of the trial came as a surprise to both parties charged with the crime. Mrs. Obenchain "couldn't believe it was true," she said. "I was almost informed the murder indictment had been dismissed. When told of the insanity charge, she said she was surprised, but said with a shrug of her shoulders she was not surprised. "He could make no comment."

BURCH DISAPPOINTED
Following a long conference with Richard Kittrell, one of his attorneys, Burch still maintained his attitude of disappointment and left the jail minus his usual optimistic front.

While Mrs. Obenchain would not discuss her future plans, she declared she would not remain in Los Angeles, nor would she return to her former home in Chicago. Asked whether she would return to her former husband, Ralph Obenchain, the so-called "man in a million," she said she would not.

"I don't think so," she was only remark, and if her attitude with the accompanying shrug of her shoulders could be taken as an indication of her future plans, the former Mrs. Obenchain would retain her marriage license as secured here to remarry her as a keepsake only.

While conversing in the reception room of the jail, Mrs. Obenchain gave no evidence of any great emotion over her release from custody. She appeared to be somewhat accustomed to surprise.

"But you are free. They can't arrest you any more for this crime," she was told. "That's what I thought when I was arrested," she ironically replied.

CHIEFS AND KIBBLES
It was only when she had returned to the women's quarters of the jail that she gave way to any feeling of joy. They were greeted with kisses and cheers by women prisoners.

"Ain't it grand," shrieked a diminutive prisoner as she embraced Mrs. Obenchain. The latter smiled and shook hands with all.

Clara Phillips, convicted of the murder of Alvin Karpis, said she was glad to see Mrs. Obenchain. It is said that Mrs. Obenchain will take a trip to the Orient after a few days of rest. She is known to have expressed a desire to visit the Far East, and it is believed she will realize her ambition soon.

CONVICTION IMPOSSIBLE
Dist. Atty. Woolwine, in asking for dismissal of the indictments, declared the issue involved had been before five juries, all had disagreed, and because of the apparent impossibility of securing a conviction he was asking the court to grant his motion.

Paul Schenk, addressing the court following Woolwine's motion, asked that in compliance with the statutes the move for dismissal must be made on the grounds of insufficient evidence instead of inability to secure a conviction. Woolwine then stated he would amend his motion, and Judge Shenk ruled in favor of the dismissal.

In commenting on his move to have Burch examined as to his mental condition, Mr. Schenk stated that it was on his own initiative that the affidavit was sworn to, and asked that the court records so state. Mr. Woolwine acquiesced and further stated he did not for a moment think Burch insane.

"I have always said he was insane from the time I tried to hold a conference with him in the County Jail prior to the first trial," he said. "My action today is only carrying out my original conviction."

It was rumored that Burch, in his attempt to divorce the insanity charges, might ask that Dist. Atty. Woolwine be called as a witness, but this could not be verified.

HISTORY OF CASE
The history of the Kennedy murder in brief is as follows: On the night of Aug. 4, 1921, J. Dalton Kennedy was shot and killed by an unidentified assassin at the entrance of the Kennedy cabin in Beverly Glen. Kennedy had gone there with Mrs. Obenchain, his sweetheart, to look for a "lucky penny," according to the latter's statement. It was while Kennedy was on his way from the cabin to his automobile to secure a match that he was killed.

Mrs. Obenchain was taken into custody following the shooting, and a few days later Burch was taken from an east-bound train in Los Angeles and returned here. His actions in a hotel directly across from the Kennedy office in a Broadway office building led to his arrest. It was said, he watched the Kennedy office for days, and that Mrs. Obenchain and Mrs. Kennedy were in the office at different times.

KEEPS SUSPENSE GOING

ACTION, DIRECTION COUNT IN "KICK IN"

By Edwin Schallert

An ace among the thrillers—the good old-fashioned kind, where the chief detective does the rough stuff and the gang leader tries to go straight, and you, as a member of the audience, don't have to do a thing but wait for the next silent shot to be fired. That's "Kick In."

George Fitzmaurice filmed it with a really stellar cast from the play by Willard Mack, and Grauman's is showing it with a cast that is even better. Betty Compson and Bert Lytell are the leads and we don't recall having seen either of them more pleasantly convincing of late, although we haven't yet viewed Fitzmaurice's "To Have and Have Not," which actually preceded "Kick In" in the making.

We've always entertained a rather high opinion of Mr. Fitzmaurice's ability as a director, but we suffered so many shocks on account of the bad stories that he utilized that our faith began to weaken. However, "Kick In" redeems many previous lapses. He has something in a plot to deal with here, and he has dealt amazingly well.

Of course "Kick In" isn't great league stuff. It's just a crook play—a trifle crookier than most. It ends with the conventional happy twist, and has a lot of good old-fashioned suspense that is well worth using.

However, the settings and acting and many of the situations take the taint of clap-net out of the melodrama—the settings because they are elegant and the acting because it seems so powerfully real, and the situations because they hold a tight rein on the suspense.

Betty Compson in particular seems to imbue her portrayal with a new earnestness. She makes you almost believe that a district attorney's daughter could become so interested in a supposedly bad man that she would go to his room to save him. Of course, that's too much of a strain when you think about it, but then Betty does her very best to show that love triumphs over all.

I've seen Lytell try several crook roles, but none with quite as much conviction as the present. Most of the time he avoids his tendency toward affectation, which has no place here.

That young wonder child, May McAvoy, is again present in a very tearful and suffering role, out of which she extracts the last ounce of emotion. As usual, she puts her whole being into the part. Gareth Hughes does convincingly as Benjie, the youngster who steals the necklace.

Kathleen Clifford is a jazy presence as that little scheming petrel, Frou Frou. She gets over a lot of good comedy.

Walter Long does a nail-eating heavy as Whip Fegarty, the detective. Robert Agnew also takes your eyes with his playing as Jerry Brandon.

It's a large list, and as you can see from the way this size-up of the show runs, it's the direction and the actors that really matter. The story, most of us know, or can guess, even though we can't call every situation in advance.

"HUMMING BIRD" CLOSING

Maude Fulton is in the final week of her twenty-fourth-week stay in Los Angeles in "The Humming Bird" at the Rega Theater. The engagement could be extended with profit to all concerned but the early presentation of the play in New York makes this impossible. The cast still includes Robert Ober, Grace Traversa, Eugene Weber, Henry Hall, Florence Oberle, Mia Marvin, Curtayne King, William T. Rogers and Arnold Tarnon.

They brought the bright plot and the hitting music and Harry Fox with them, so consequently we're inclined to be a bit lenient with "Oh, Look!" which is settled down last night for a week's run at the Mason. And being lenient means a good deal in the instance of a music show, for at most of them we have lately looked askance. But "Oh, Look!" is a pretty show, and a sparkling one—even if it is about four years old, which you can easily detect from the fact that one of its major numbers is "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows."

What they didn't bring with "Oh, Look!" of course are the things that they generally forget. There are, for example, the girls they left behind them. When a transcontinental tour is in prospect, are always comes before beauty. Length of service means so much more in withstanding the hardships.

For which reason the chorus is as choruses inevitably are—several good-looking girls.

But the members have enthusiasm that they are doing, and that's half the conquest. And their first performance was a conquest, as reinforced by the plot by James Montgomery of "Irene" fame, and the music, which is rather charmingly woven from tunes by Harry Carroll and Nat Goldstein, the latter of whom also directs the orchestra.

Harry Fox still offers his gleeful monkey-business, and his razor-like sense of humor. He has returned to the theater after the house on Long Island that he did in the two-day, and it retains its glister. He also does an Al Jolson by the name of "The Footlighters" and kidding along for a while in the middle of the second act. He sings too.

"Irene" is a "Rainbows" number and others.

As support for Fox is not strong, though Dan Jent as Tubby Turner does run away with good second honors. He has a painful method of putting over lines. Harry Fox is also very excellent, especially in several song numbers.

Luther Tarnes saves his way through the show, and saves his laurels by some of his dancing. Agnes Sanford dances, too, and says several of her lines cleverly, although she only has a line in the play.

Violet May brings a reliable musical comedy number and a fair voice to the prima donna role. Some others like Muriel Hudson, Tom Miller, Ethel Martelle deserve a mention.

"Oh, Look!" is announced on the program as having "an exceptional cast and a glittering, gorgeous gallery of stars." It is somewhat short of this rather exuberant estimate, but find that it offers much that is tuneful, amusing and worth while.

HARRY FOX HIT IN MUSIC SHOW

THEY ARE ALL GOOD

EVERY ACT ON NEW ORPHEUM BILL IS BRIGHT

By Grace Kingsley

It's no use trying to play straight in vaudeville, these days. If the angel Gabriel were to appear, he'd have to "hook" it up to get by. So it comes to pass, down at the Orpheum, that even such tried and true standbys as John Hyams and Lella McIntyre are, training right along with the kidders in their new act "Honeycuckles." Frank Stammers is responsible for "Honeycuckles," which is written about Hyams and McIntyre—and isn't about much of anything else. It has a thread of plot, but it would take a detective to find it. In the meantime the pair are the delightful actors they always were, and they sing and dance and patter just as charmingly. Also their lovely daughter, Lella Hyams, has been and gone and all grown up and come out, and black hair to be as clever as her pa and ma.

Kidding the courting and marital stuff is the object of Paul Morton and Naomi Glass, the novel feature of whose stage setting is a dry-cleaned shower, so to speak. The talk is maggy, dancing neat, and altogether the word class describes the act.

Nash Webster wouldn't know his old dictionary when Val and Ernie Stanton get through with it. Besides funny juggling with words, they juggle their feet, and are usually clever at both ends.

We have with us once more Bill Robinson, who shakes a plum wicked galter in some hard shoe dancing. He has a smart joke or two also. Altogether he's going to knock them icy in New York one of these days.

If one of these feverish must-go's, who always make it a point to leave before the last act, seems to think they show some sort of superiority in this way, leave before Monsieur Adolphus and his brilliant dancers get to going. They're going to cheat themselves. Here is some of the best stuff the Orpheum has seen, purveyed by Adolphus, Grace Eastman, Eunice Prosser, and Anna Valde. At least two of the ladies are dancers, one plays the violin and does it most pleasingly.

A sort of Folletttes is put over nicely by Edna Mae Jackson and Harry Delmar, with a bunch of pretty girls assisting. The radium dance, the shimmy, the shimmying flowers, was a novelty and created a sensation.

Opening up the entertainment are Fred Gallett and Michael Kokin, who, with a tame monkey, corner the laughs. Edward Foley and Lea Lettore trail along with song and patter to good returns.

Rare Gifts Are Shown by Organist

Marcel Dupre, noted French organist, and organist at the Notre Dame Cathedral, Paris, gave a musical and an exacting program Sunday afternoon at Philharmonic Auditorium. That he is among the foremost of the world's organists could not be doubted by those present, for he played with a mastery which only a trained musician could really appreciate.

The first thing especially pleasing about the program was the fact that the console had been moved to the stage, thus enabling a more intimate acquaintance than is usually the case between organist and his audience.

The first number, "Passacaglia and Theme" by Bach, was played with a mastery which only a trained musician could really appreciate.

HAYES'S AIDES READY TO COME TO COAST

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Every thing is ready for Thomas J. Patten, former postmaster of New York, and Joseph Jefferson O'Neill to trek away for the Pacific Coast. They will immediately open a branch office for Will Hayes's organization.

The exact duties of Messrs. Patten and O'Neill when they reach the Coast have not been given out at the local office. But it is predicted that Mr. Patten will be in charge of the office staff that will work in conjunction with the main office here.

TULLY TO SPEAK

Jim Tully, author of "Emmett Lawler" and other books will be the first speaker at the Story Writers' Club, the 6th inst., at 3 p.m. in room 438 Music-Art Studio Building, 231 South Broadway.

New Hillstreet Bill Has Number of Headliners

THEY ARE ALL GOOD

Nobodies cope all the honors on this week's Hillstreet bill, but everybody gets in on a good helping.

Vic Moore and Emma Littlefield, as would be expected after their recent Orpheum engagement, gather in many a laugh with their "Change Your Act or Back to the Woods." Billy Glasson, also just over from the senior house, continues the amusement with his monologue stuff.

A smug little playlet entitled "The Gray Pedore" is the offering of Edwin Stevens and Tina Marshall. There isn't much story to it, but there is quite a lot of fun, and the two players get both over very nicely.

Paul Roscoe and the Connor twins (who were lately pried loose from the Ziegfeld Follies) offer some old stuff in the song and patter line in rather a novel manner. They're decent.

Lawton is a juggler of no mean ability, who accompanies his act with an informal monologue, meaning that he talks whenever he thinks of anything to say. He gets off a lot of deep ones that don't register out loud in the crowd, but which stimulate quite a little brain work.

Chong and Rosie May are a couple of young Chinese who entertain with songs and dances. Their act is picturesque and novel.

"Top of the Morning" in which Gladys Walton is featured, is little more than a program picture, and hardly deserves a second thought. The story is obvious from the very first scene, but audiences seem to like it. Chapter nine of "In the Days of Buffalo Bill," and "From Tailor to President," a Johnny Hyams comedy, and Asop's Fables and some pictures, complete the bill.

FLASHES

THEY ARE ALL GOOD

EVERY ACT ON NEW ORPHEUM BILL IS BRIGHT

By Grace Kingsley

It's no use trying to play straight in vaudeville, these days. If the angel Gabriel were to appear, he'd have to "hook" it up to get by. So it comes to pass, down at the Orpheum, that even such tried and true standbys as John Hyams and Lella McIntyre are, training right along with the kidders in their new act "Honeycuckles." Frank Stammers is responsible for "Honeycuckles," which is written about Hyams and McIntyre—and isn't about much of anything else. It has a thread of plot, but it would take a detective to find it. In the meantime the pair are the delightful actors they always were, and they sing and dance and patter just as charmingly. Also their lovely daughter, Lella Hyams, has been and gone and all grown up and come out, and black hair to be as clever as her pa and ma.

Kidding the courting and marital stuff is the object of Paul Morton and Naomi Glass, the novel feature of whose stage setting is a dry-cleaned shower, so to speak. The talk is maggy, dancing neat, and altogether the word class describes the act.

Nash Webster wouldn't know his old dictionary when Val and Ernie Stanton get through with it. Besides funny juggling with words, they juggle their feet, and are usually clever at both ends.

We have with us once more Bill Robinson, who shakes a plum wicked galter in some hard shoe dancing. He has a smart joke or two also. Altogether he's going to knock them icy in New York one of these days.

If one of these feverish must-go's, who always make it a point to leave before the last act, seems to think they show some sort of superiority in this way, leave before Monsieur Adolphus and his brilliant dancers get to going. They're going to cheat themselves. Here is some of the best stuff the Orpheum has seen, purveyed by Adolphus, Grace Eastman, Eunice Prosser, and Anna Valde. At least two of the ladies are dancers, one plays the violin and does it most pleasingly.

A sort of Folletttes is put over nicely by Edna Mae Jackson and Harry Delmar, with a bunch of pretty girls assisting. The radium dance, the shimmy, the shimmying flowers, was a novelty and created a sensation.

Opening up the entertainment are Fred Gallett and Michael Kokin, who, with a tame monkey, corner the laughs. Edward Foley and Lea Lettore trail along with song and patter to good returns.
